Bachelor of Social Work

Carver School of Social Work and Counseling

Social Work Program Educational Objectives:

The social work program at Campbellsville University will:

- Educate students to perform competent generalist social work practice, including, but not limited to, services to the poor and oppressed, populations of diverse origins and social systems of all sizes;
- Educate students about the forms of oppression and discrimination and the strategies to promote change that advance social and economic justice;
- Educate the social work student in the acquisition and application of knowledge about bio-psycho-social-spiritual variables that effect human development and behavior and apply the associated theoretical frameworks to understand the interactions among individuals and social systems (i.e., families, groups, organizations, and communities);
- Educate students to practice within the values and ethics of the profession; and, with an understanding of and respect for the positive value of diversity;
- Help students integrate generalist social work knowledge into the work setting through the use of appropriate supervision;
- Educate students to interpret the impact of social policies on client systems, workers and agencies through the application of critical thinking;
- Provide students with a historical perspective of the profession and its current structures and issues;
- Prepare students to demonstrate the professional use of self in social work practice;
- Educate students to evaluate research studies and apply findings to practice; and, under supervision, to evaluate their own practice interventions and those of other relevant systems;
- Help students acquire communication skills differentially with a variety of client populations, colleagues and members of the community;
- Function within the structure of organizations and service delivery systems; and, under supervision, seek necessary organizational change;
- Help students integrate Christian values with social work values and ethics.

Philosophy

The Carver School of Social Work and Counseling views social work as a helping profession sanctioned by society to assist in the elimination of human suffering. In order to address social problems and human needs, the profession takes two approaches: (1) to work to change social institutions, organizations and communities to better meet the needs of people and (2) to help people identify and utilize their own strengths in problem solving and to connect them to the resources they lack. When resources are not available, social workers advocate and work to establish programs to enhance the well being of humans and alleviate the suffering brought about by various psycho-social-behavioral issues. Social work promotes the advancement of economic and social justice for all, particularly those classified as vulnerable populations. Generalist social work draws upon common processes, specialized knowledge, communication, and intervention skills for the purposes of intervening on the behalf of people to create changes, which maximize the functioning of systems.

Social work students seeking the BSW degree are required to complete 42 hours of designated social work courses and nine hours of social work electives and/or approved social science cognate courses. Students electing to major in Social Work must meet requirements as specified in the BSW Student Handbook before gaining acceptance into the program. There is no credit for life experiences or previous work experience given to social work students as substitutions for curriculum for field requirements.
