

Campbellsvillian

VOL. 3, NO. 2
AUGUST 2006

The Magazine for Alumni and Friends of Campbellsville University

A JOURNEY
TRANSFORMING A NEW GENERATION
100 YEARS OF FAITH 1906-2006

A word from the president...

AUGUST 2006

Dear alumni and friends,

Campbellsville University is 100 years old, and we want you to join us in the Centennial Celebration, which will be held throughout the 2006-07 academic year.

The theme for the year-long celebration is taken from our Centennial Campaign, "Transforming a New Generation: A Journey of Faith." Christian faith and commitment to learning were the cornerstones on which the school was founded a century ago. Today, it is with that same commitment that we find dedicated faculty, staff and coaches working faithfully to provide the finest in Christian higher education.

Campbellsville University's history can be found in two beautiful volumes that commemorate our 100 years of Christian education. The first volume details the rich life and workings of Russell Creek Academy and moves to Campbellsville University today. It is authored by Dr. J. Chester Badgett, long-time member of the Campbellsville University Board of Trustees. The second volume is a wonderful pictorial history, which provides a beautiful overview of life along The Maple Trail. Both volumes are available in the University Barnes and Noble Bookstore located in the Davenport Student Commons Building. For information on how to purchase these books, see the Centennial insert. Both are a tribute to the men and women who have sacrificed to bring Campbellsville University to this point in her remarkable history.

Campbellsville University commissioned artist Billie Sue Kibbons, a 1975 graduate, to produce a Centennial painting of the university. The painting will be unveiled at the opening chapel/convocation and Centennial kickoff Wednesday, Aug. 30. Commemorative prints will be made available of the painting.

It was in 2001 that Campbellsville University took bold steps to create a new Strategic Plan based on an updated Mission Statement and Core Values. Out of this plan a Centennial Campaign was realized and embraced by the Board of Trustees, faculty, staff, alumni, friends and students. Today, we have completed Phase I, a $35 million campaign, and have realized that a second phase must be pursued. In January 2006, the Board of Trustees voted to expand the campaign an additional $15 million in order to achieve the educational goals that are a must for students as they prepare for graduate study, enter the global marketplace and seek to follow Jesus Christ. We feel this commitment to Phase II is essential if Campbellsville University is to continue her path of preparing faithful Christian servant-leaders who are willing to make a difference for Jesus Christ in our world. I hope everyone will pray for and become involved in Phase II of our campaign.

This special Centennial issue of the Campbellsvillian catalogs many of the activities and events that will take place throughout this year. I hope you will attend as many of these as possible. A special series of Centennial gifts and commemorative items will be available as we celebrate this special time in our history. I think you will enjoy this year as we reflect on and offer gratitude for all of those who have gone before us.

Our Centennial Celebration only happens once! This is a special time to celebrate the accomplishments of our graduates and to appreciate the Christian mission of Campbellsville University. Our bright future would not be possible without our rich past.

As we enter into this time of celebration may we do so with a deep sense of appreciation. I hope you will pray for the students who are attending Campbellsville University this year. This fall over 2,200 will take classes. Pray for our faculty, staff and coaches as they seek to be the men and women God is calling them to be. Your faithful prayer support, your good words and your steadfast financial support are transforming lives at Campbellsville University through a journey of faith.

May God bless you and Campbellsville University on her 100th birthday!

Most cordially,

Michael V. Carter
PRESIDENT

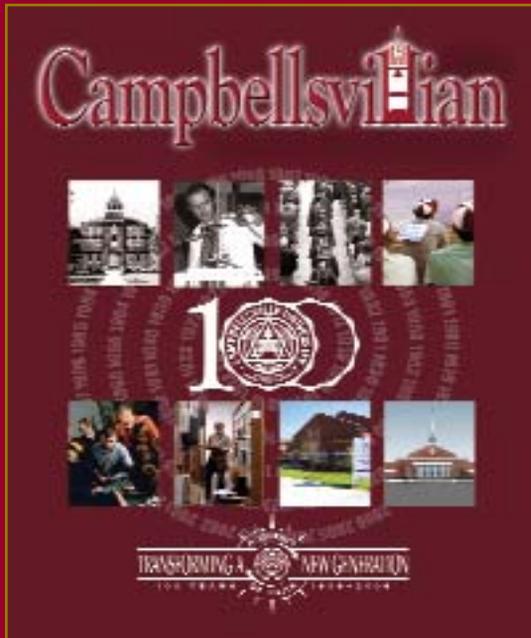

Campbellsville University

"I think you will enjoy this year as we reflect on and offer gratitude for all of those who have gone before us."

DR. MICHAEL V. CARTER
PRESIDENT

ON THE COVER:

The photographs on the cover reflect the broad spectrum of activities, academics and athletics over the past 100 years of Campbellsville University's rich history.

Page 5

Page 16

Table of Contents

AUGUST 2006

Osebreh Receives Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award	4
Piece of Ghana Given to President	4
Jerry Bennett, CU Trustee, Dies	5
Mr. and Miss CU/Servant Leadership Winners Announced	6
Nursing Program Has Inaugural Class	8
Professors Doty, Metzmeier Retire	8
Faculty and Staff Recognized for Service	9
Excellence in Teaching Awards Presented	13
H.R. Richardson Receives Honorary Doctorate	16
CU Board of Trustees Recognized	17
Centennial Campaign Completion Celebrated, Extended	18-19
Covenant, Leaving a Legacy	20
CENTENNIAL INSERT
ROTC Program is Established	21
New Coaches Are Announced	22-23
Wise Signs 6'6" Lady Tiger	24
Blair Named SID of Year	24
Golfer Admits Mistakes, Receives Accolades	26
Remember When?	27
Tiger Tracks.....	28-32
Beth Kemper, English Professor, is Killed in Car Collision	32
Nevalyn Moore Awarded Non-Tenured Faculty Honor.....	33
Scrapbook.....	35

The Campbellsvillian is published three times yearly by the Office of University Communications for alumni and friends of Campbellsville University.

Dr. Michael V. Carter
PRESIDENT

— EDITORIAL BOARD —

Joan C. McKinney
EDITOR

DIRECTOR OF UNIVERSITY COMMUNICATIONS jcmckinney@campbellsville.edu

Dr. Alan Medders
VICE PRESIDENT FOR DEVELOPMENT
agmedders@campbellsville.edu

Anne K. Galito
ASSISTANT EDITOR
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR OF UNIVERSITY COMMUNICATIONS
akgalito@campbellsville.edu

Benji Kelly
DIRECTOR OF ALUMNI RELATIONS
jbkelly@campbellsville.edu

Bryan F. Blair
SPORTS INFORMATION DIRECTOR
bfblair@campbellsville.edu

Vol. 3 • No. 2
— August 2006 —

OFFICE OF UNIVERSITY
— COMMUNICATIONS —

Campbellsville University

1 University Drive
UPO 787
Campbellsville, Ky. 42718-2799
Phone: (270) 789-5213
Fax: (270) 789-5095
jcmckinney@campbellsville.edu

Campbellsville University is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (1866 Southern Lane, Decatur, Georgia, telephone number 404-679-4501) to award the associate's, bachelor's and master's degrees. The university is affiliated with the Kentucky Baptist Convention.

In compliance with federal law, including provision of Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, Campbellsville University does not illegally discriminate on the basis of color, national or ethnic origins, age, disability or military service in its administration of education policies, programs, or activities; admissions policies; or employment.

Design & Production: FMB Advertising

Campbellsville University presents Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award to Osebreh

BY JOAN C. MCKINNEY, Editor

Campbellsville University President Michael V. Carter presented the university's fourth Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award to Kwaku Osebreh of Accra, Ghana, West Africa, a 2006 graduate, at the university's commencement May 6. Carter said Osebreh possesses the "high ideals and Christian example of Algernon Sydney Sullivan, for whom the award is named."

According to Carter, Osebreh has been a "faithful servant leader on our campus. The variety and breadth of his activities during his tenure as a student are a testament to his ability, skills and leadership."

Osebreh is a decision support analyst with Central Baptist Hospital in Lexington, Ky. At CU he pursued an economics and computer information systems major with a math minor.

Algernon Sydney Sullivan was an attorney, devout Christian, a noted philanthropist and a devoted family man. In the words of a friend, Sullivan "reached out both hands in constant helpfulness to others."

Kwaku Osebreh, second from left, receives the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award at commencement May 6. Making the presentation were, from left: Dr. Frank Cheatham, vice president for academics; Osebreh; Dr. Dave Morris, chair of the CU Board of Trustees; and Dr. Michael V. Carter, CU president. (CU Photo by Joan C. McKinney)

"Campbellsville University is one of approximately 50 colleges and universities in the south that are approved by the Sullivan Foundation to present these awards," said Carter.

He was presented with a medallion and a framed certificate. ➤

Sullivan Award winner shows appreciation to CU

BY JOAN C. MCKINNEY, Editor

Kwaku Osebreh of Ghana, recipient of the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award and Mr. Campbellsville University 2006, has left a part of Ghana at CU.

Osebreh, 24, presented Dr. Michael V. Carter, CU president, a Ghanaian cloth called kente (ken-tay) which is a ceremonial cloth worn by chiefs.

Osebreh said the kentes date back to the 12th century and their use was controlled by chiefs. However, today, it is common for every man to have at least one that he may pass on to his sons.

Osebreh said the kente he gave Carter was a vibrant one whose colors express joy, thankfulness and birth.

The particular cloth he gave Carter is called adwinasa (ah-jdween-sanh), which means that "all creativity is used up."

"It is thought to be the most creative and beautiful of all the designs," Osebreh said.

A single kente takes a master weaver about two or three months to complete.

Osebreh also presented sandals to Carter. The sandals represent the support of the people and, as long as a chief has his sandals, he will remain a chief, Osebreh said. The kente, along with the sandals, represent leadership.

In making the presentation, Osebreh wore a kente that belonged to his father, who wore it to mourn the death of his father. Osebreh's father died in 2005. Deep red and black colors are used to mourn.

Osebreh said he struggled with a "good way to show my appreciation to the campus community for the love and compassion they have shown me, especially after my father's passing." He said the cloth is a way to say thanks and "celebrate the good people I've met."

"As I graduate and move on I feel it's only right to leave a piece of Ghana behind," he said.

Carter said he was honored to receive the gift from Osebreh. ➤

Kwaku Osebreh, right, and Dr. Michael V. Carter, president, celebrate after the presentation of the Ghanaian cloth to Carter. (CU Photo by Joan C. McKinney)

Campbellsville University Trustee Jerry Bennett dies at 66

BY JOAN C. MCKINNEY, Editor

Jerry Dale Bennett of Campbellsville, who recently completed three terms as chair of the Campbellsville University Board of Trustees, died May 30, 2006, at his home following a short illness with cancer. He was 66.

Bennett, described as a “prince of a fellow,” was president and partner in Campbellsville Industries Inc., which was formerly a part of Campbellsville College, and was established in 1965.

In 1969, Herb Keeton purchased Campbellsville Industries from Campbellsville College, and Bennett became president in 1979. He, together with employees Wilbur Cox, Roger Grant and Kenny Bennett, purchased the company. Kenny Bennett, who is no relation to Jerry, said, “I am proud to speak of a very close colleague, business partner and most importantly, a friend. Jerry was one of a kind. He was a true source of stability and would want this company to remain honorable, honest and dedicated to honoring our Lord and Savior with the products we build.”

“There are those few individuals in life who combine a sense of creativity, business acumen, servant leadership, work ethic, intelligence and Christian commitment,” said CU President Michael V. Carter, “and Jerry Bennett, my dear friend and colleague, is that person.” Carter said Bennett gave “unselfishly of his time, expertise and resources in service to Campbellsville University. As one of the leaders of CU’s ongoing Centennial Campaign, he was instrumental in the architectural improvements and continuity across campus through his design work and keen aesthetic insight.” Bennett was chair of the building and grounds committee at the time of his death.

Campbellsville Industries is a major manufacturer of steeples, cupolas, domes, dormers, cornices, clocks, clock towers and canopies for businesses throughout America and many foreign countries. In 1992, Campbellsville Industries, Inc. and Schulmerich Carillons, Inc. of Pennsylvania donated a 60-foot carillon/clock tower which has become a landmark on campus.

Active at CU since his graduation in 1965, Bennett was awarded an honorary doctorate of humane letters at commencement May 6. He has also received a Distinguished Alumnus Award and the Distinguished Service Award from the Alumni Association. He served as a member of the Board of Trustees and was chair from 2003 to 2005. He was serving as associate trustee for 2006.

“He was a prince of a fellow,” said Dan Flanagan of Campbellsville, who grew up with Bennett. “He had a great deal of integrity and honesty. He was a caring human being who reached out to people of all walks of life.”

Jerry Dale Bennett

Bennett was also known for his involvement in the community.

“Jerry Bennett was one of the most community-minded individuals I have ever known,” said Stan McKinney, chair of the Campbellsville Fourth of July Celebration and assistant professor of journalism at CU. “He designed the Johnny Edrington Memorial and the amphitheater at Miller Park. He was also involved with the flagpole that honors the troops who served in Desert Storm, planning for the gazebo and many of the flower gardens.

“Earlier this year, the Fourth of July board decided to honor Jerry on the Fourth with the Spirit of the Fourth Award. The award is given in memory of Everette Lee and recognizes community spirit and patriotism.

“Everette and Jerry set the standards for community service. I only wish Jerry could have been with us on the Fourth to receive the award,” McKinney said.

Bennett served as president of the CU Alumni Association and was secretary of the CU Athletic/Boosters Club. He belonged to the Campbellsville Gideon Camp and was a director of Citizens Bank and Trust Co. Bennett served as past president of the Campbellsville/Taylor County Chamber of Commerce and was twice named Business Person of the Year. He was charter member and president of the Green River Artists Guild.

Bennett was a member of Campbellsville Baptist Church and served on numerous committees.

Bennett is survived by his wife of 34 years, Jackie Ward Bennett; three children, Jerry Dale Bennett II and his wife, Robin, of Tucson, Ariz.; Jeffrey Scott Bennett and his wife, Elizabeth, and Jennifer Dawn Bennett Poe and her husband, Brian, all of Lexington.

The family requests that expressions of sympathy take the form of donations to Campbellsville University. 🍀

“He had a great deal of integrity and honesty. He was a caring human being who reached out to people of all walks of life.”

DAN FLANAGAN

Mr. and Miss Campbellville named for 2006

BY HEATHER CAMPBELL, Student News Writer

Mr. and Miss Campbellville University are two students who “best exemplify our university as the typical student, based on scholarship, leadership, character and potential for success,” said Dr. Michael V. Carter, CU president, at the 2006 Honors and Awards Day chapel/convocation ceremony.

Mr. and Miss Campbellville University were named at Honors and Awards Day. From left are: Dr. Frank Cheatham, vice president for academics; Kwaku Osebreh, Mr. Campbellville University; Jenny Noort, Miss Campbellville University; and Dr. Michael V. Carter, president. (CU Photo by Tiago Pinheiro)

Named to the honor this year were Kwaku Osebreh of Accra, Ghana, West Africa, and Jenny Noort of Lexington, Ky.

Osebreh is a 2006 cum laude graduate in economics and computer information systems. He is employed at Central Baptist Hospital in Lexington, Ky., as a decision support analyst.

Osebreh also received the Outstanding Senior Award, the Rotary Award and the International Education Award during the ceremony. He has been president of Phi Beta Lambda for three years, a reporter and editor for Campus Times, a resident assistant, member of the Student Government Association, tutor for the writing lab and a computer technician with CU’s Office of Information Services.

He is the son of Victoria Osebreh of Ghana and the late Francis Osebreh. He is a 2000 graduate of Lincoln Community School in Accra.

Noort was a member of the Lady Tiger Basketball Team. She was the 2004 Mid-South Conference Player of the Year and a four-time member of the All-Conference team. She is also a member of the NAIA All-Academic team, an Academic All-American and a member of the 1,000 point club at CU.

Noort received the Double “A” award from the Alumni Association and graduated summa cum laude with an elementary education degree. She will be student teaching this fall.

Noort is a 2002 graduate of Lexington Christian Academy and the daughter of Donald and Janet Noort of Lexington. 🍷

Campbellsville University honors employees and students with Servant Leadership Awards

BY CASIE ANDERSON, Student News Writer

“We’re proud of them and the fact that they have found strength inside of themselves to give to others,” said Dr. Michael V. Carter, president.

Campbellsville University hosted her annual Servant Leadership Awards Luncheon recently in the Winters Dining Hall on campus.

Corri Irving, a junior from Hopkinsville, Ky., and Lindsey Nelson, a junior from Jacksonville, Ala., were the student recipients of the awards.

Dr. Patricia Cowherd, dean of the School of Business and Economics, and the Rev. Ed Pavy, director of campus ministries, were the faculty and staff recipients, respectively.

Nelson is pursuing a bachelor’s degree in art with a biblical studies minor. She has been a member of Disciple Now creative ministries team, the women’s tennis team, a student mentor and a resident assistant. She will donate a portion of her award money to the Skateboard Ministry at Campbellsville Baptist Church.

Irving is pursuing a bachelor’s degree in social work. He has been a member of the CU football team for three years and received the 110% award two years in a row. He is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, a resident assistant and a junior class officer. Irving will donate a portion of his award money to The Salvation Army.

Cowherd has been employed at CU 27 years. In addition to serving as dean, she coordinates the master of business administration program. She has also served as the registrar, a part-time instructor, coordinator of academic counseling, assistant professor/advisor in office management/administrative technology, director of career services, director of

Corri Irving

Lindsey Nelson

Dr. Patricia Cowherd

Rev. Ed Pavy

continued on page 33

CU students attend AIKCU Legislative Day

BY BRITTANY PELLY, Student News Writer

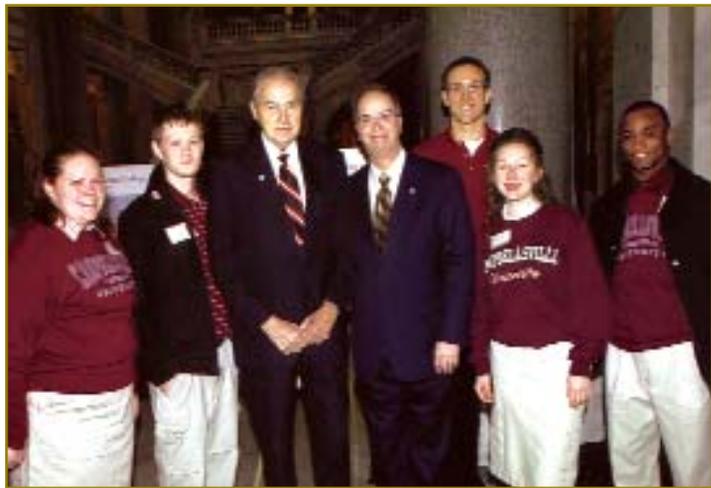

Five Campbellsville University students attended the Association of Independent Kentucky Colleges and Universities (AIKCU) Legislative Day in February. The students included Melissa Perry of Sanford, Fla., Will Bennett of Bowling Green, Ky.; Brandon Higgs of Morganfield, Ky.; Emily Emerson of Louisville, Ky. and Corri Irving of Hopkinsville, Ky.

About 140 students and administrators from AIKCU traveled to Frankfort, Ky. in celebration of Independent Higher Education Day.

CU students were able to talk with State Senate Majority Leader Dan Kelly, State Representative and former CU professor Russ Mobley, and Education Cabinet Secretary Ginni Fox, who is a Taylor County native, visited as well. Among the CU alumni who work in Frankfort who were able to talk with visiting students were Laura Chowning, Jason Hall, Ashli Schmidt, Brian McIntire and current intern Lindsay Rogers.

Students were able to discuss events happening on their campus and express to their senators and representatives the importance of Kentucky student financial aid in helping them attain their educational goals.

Meeting in Frankfort for AIKCU Legislative Day were from left: CU students Melissa Perry and Will Bennett, Rep. Russ Mobley, CU President Dr. Michael V. Carter, and students Brandon Higgs, Emily Emerson and Corri Irving.

“We spoke to several of the legislators on issues pending before the legislature including our support for full funding of student financial aid. The Kentucky Tuition Grant (KTG) program, which is a needs-based program for students attending Kentucky’s independent colleges, was the primary point of student concern. Students also shared about their current studies and the invaluable contributions being made by Kentucky’s independent colleges and universities. Our students of course spoke of the unique role of Campbellsville University,” said John Chowning, CU vice president for church and external relations, who also attended the event. 🍀

“Our students of course spoke of the unique role of Campbellsville University.”

JOHN CHOWNING
CU VICE PRESIDENT FOR CHURCH AND EXTERNAL RELATIONS

Personalized plates still available

You can still receive your special Campbellsville University license plate from the state Department of Transportation through the Association of Independent Kentucky Colleges and Universities (AIKCU).

CU receives $10 from each plate sold of the Independent Higher Education license plate series. A total of $30,850 was presented to the institutions from the 2005 sales. CU received a $960 check for scholarship funds.

Dr. Gary Cox, president of AIKCU, praised the universities for their participation and encouraged even more “friendly competition” for selling the most plates in 2006.

For more information on the license plates, go to www.aikcu.org. 🍀

School of Nursing prepares for inaugural class

BY ANNE K. GALITO, Assistant Editor

“We are pleased to offer the nursing program which will produce a ‘Campbellsville’ nurse – a nurse with intelligence, kindness and compassion and a true Christian servant leader.”

DR. MICHAEL V. CARTER
PRESIDENT

The inaugural class of Campbellsville University’s School of Nursing is anticipating 30 students for the 2006-2007 academic year, according to Jo Ann M. Wever, dean of the School of Nursing.

“This is a historic event for our 100 year-old university,” said Dr. Michael V. Carter, who is in his eighth year as president of the institution. “We are pleased to offer the nursing program which will produce a ‘Campbellsville’ nurse – a nurse with intelligence, kindness and compassion and a true Christian servant leader. The program offers a new level of excellence to the academic program at Campbellsville University,” he said.

Before being admitted to the program, students must take prerequisites of anatomy and physiology, English composition, computer applications and general psychology. They also are required to have at least a score of 20 on the ACT (formerly known as the American College Test) or score in the 50th percentile on the NLN (National League for Nursing pre-admission exam) test.

The program is a two-year associate degree program. Upon graduation, the students will be able to take the licensing examination to become a registered nurse. Students entering the program in August 2006 are projected to graduate in May 2008.

Over the course of the program, nursing students will “learn about what it means to be a nurse, how to think like a nurse and what to do,” said Wever. “They will learn how to take vital signs, how to position patients, how to give wound care, give medications and many other aspects of caring for patients. The students will also learn how to keep people healthy and what to do to prevent illnesses.”

At the end of the program, a pinning ceremony is held for the graduates.

“When one accepts the nursing pin, which symbolizes the right to practice nursing, one accepts many responsibilities,” said Wever. “The main responsibility is a promise to the public to offer safe, reasonable care. The nursing pin communicates to the consumer of nursing services that the wearer is a competent nurse; educated, knowledgeable and possessing professional attributes as he/she services the health needs of the public.”

Two specialized scholarships are available to nursing students. The first is from Taylor Regional Hospital in Campbellsville. First consideration for this scholarship is given to TRH employees and second is given to Taylor County residents. The second scholarship is available through funding from Citizens Bank & Trust Co. in Campbellsville. First priority is given to Taylor County residents and second to residents of the contiguous counties. Students must have a financial need to apply for either scholarship.

All of the faculty members in the School of Nursing must be registered nurses with experience in teaching or have a master of science degree in nursing education.

The School of Nursing will be accepting 40 students into the program during the 2007-2008 academic year.

Currently, the program is only admitting students once a year. Anyone interested in applying for the program can pick up an application at the School of Nursing or can request one by calling (270) 789-5155. Deadlines for applications have not been set.

For more information on the School of Nursing and the nursing program, contact Dean Jo Ann M. Wever at jawever@campbellsville.edu or (270) 789-5155. ➤

Dr. Robert L. Doty, left, seated, and Clara Metzmeier were honored at a retirement ceremony held in their honor at the Betty Dobbins Heilman House. The two English teachers had a combined 53 years of service to Campbellsville University, with Doty teaching for 33 and Metzmeier for 20. “The best of my knowledge is still alive in my students,” Doty said. He reflected on former students who are professors, a dinner theater director and a librarian. “Learning and teaching are my passions,” said Metzmeier during the annual Faculty and Staff Recognition Service. “I have had a wonderful time doing both.” At left is Dr. Michael V. Carter, president, and Dr. Frank D. Cheatham, vice president for academic affairs. (CU Photo by Joan C. McKinney)

Campbellsville University honors faculty and staff members

BY ANNE K. GALITO, Assistant Editor

"You can't help but be amazed when you think about the diversity of Campbellsville University," said Dr. Michael V. Carter, president, at CU's 23rd Annual Faculty and Staff Recognition Service. The service was held April 28 in the Winters Dining Hall on campus.

"It's a fascinating Christian university in the Baptist tradition," Carter said. "There is a sweet spirit on campus. It has been a very busy and good year."

Clara Metzmeier, associate professor of English, gave remarks to the faculty and staff during the ceremony.

"We've come a long way," Metzmeier said. "My 20 years have given me the opportunity to develop many friends. I've watched and taken part in many changes at Campbellsville University."

Special recognition was paid to Dr. William E. Bennett, a professor of political science, who recently died. Caroline Bennett, Bennett's wife; Bryan Bennett, his son; and Pam Bennett, his daughter-in-law, accepted a plaque in his honor.

"When I think about Bill, the three words that come to mind are love, time and treasure," said Dr. Damon Eubank, professor of history and a former student of Bennett's. "He loved what he did and it was obvious to those around him; he inspired many people."

CU faculty and staff members were honored for their years of service.

Those recognized for thirty years of service were: Dr. Robert A. Street, professor of computer information systems; Connie P. Wilson, academic coordinator; and Donna H. Wise, head women's basketball coach.

Twenty-five years: Glenn A. Corbin, serviceman; Teresa M. Elmore, Technology Training Center project manager; and Dr. Gordon K. Weddle, professor of biology.

Twenty years: Clara Metzmeier; Donna L. Pierce, athletics secretary; Haywood B. Riner, assistant football coach and recruiting coordinator; Mary E. Street, cataloging technician; and E. Kay Sutton, professor of biology.

Fifteen years: Rita A. Creason, director of student records; Dr. David M. McCullough, professor of music and director of bands; and Dr. William R. Neal, chair of the division of humanities and professor of English.

Ten years: Mark S. Allen, serviceman; Dr. Mary Jane Chaffee, associate professor of English; Carl Hogsed, Jr., associate professor of accounting; Dr. Glenn G. McQuaide, assistant professor of biology; and G. Gean Wright, administrative assistant for admissions.

Five years: Regyna L. Beckham, custodian; Sharon G. Bolt, financial aid counselor; Christine Moran Cundiff, secretary for division of science (part-time) and secretary for division of social science (part-time); Jake Davis, postmaster; Brent T. Gupton, safety/security officer; Rusty Hollingsworth, director of athletics; Sheila R. Marcum, custodian; Dr. Alan G. Medders, vice president for development; Bryan T. Milburn, men's assistant basketball coach; Debra I. Murray, help desk specialist; Rebecca S. Shields, office assistant in career services and counseling; Christine Sooriya-Arachchi, director of English as a Second Language Institution and instructor; Peggy Stotts, secretary for the College of Arts and Sciences; Leigh J. Sullivan, head men's tennis coach and instructor of education; Pamela J. Tennant, E. Bruce Heilman Student Complex coordinator; Jennifer L. Tinnell, director of marching band/recruiter and instructor of music; and Dr. Robert E. Van Est, associate professor of education. ➤

Dr. Damon Eubank, who graduated in 1981, studied under and worked with the late Dr. Bill Bennett. Eubank talked about his friend at the faculty and staff service. (CU Photo by Silvia Campelo)

Bryan Bennett ('96), son of the late Dr. Bill Bennett, who taught at CU from 1970 until his death April 3, 2006, acknowledges a plaque given to the family by Dr. Michael V. Carter, president. Carolyn Bennett, Dr. Bennett's widow, is at left and Bryan Bennett's wife, Pam, ('96), centennial campaign officer for major gifts in the Office of Development at CU, is beside Bryan. (CU Photo by Silvia Campelo)

Retired CU professor publishes book

BY ANNE K. GALITO, Assistant Editor

Bobby Himes, a retired Campbellsville University history professor, has published a book titled "Life in the Shadows of Hartford College and Campbellsville University." The book is a collection of essays Himes has written about his life and experiences.

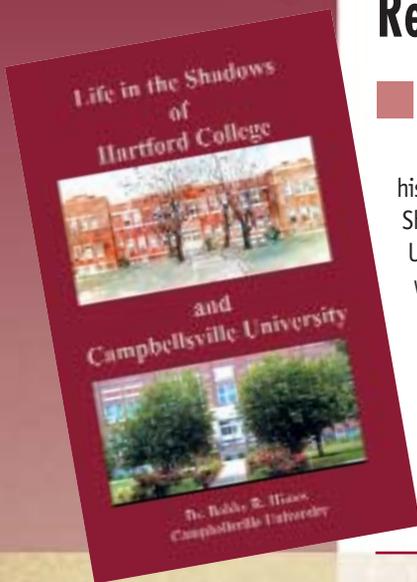

"For years my students told me to write down my stories," said Himes. "I was at the 80th birthday party of one of my former students and his wife said that I should put them in a book. So I did it."

A book signing will be held during the 2006 Homecoming festivities. The book will be sold for $11.95 plus tax. For advance copies of the book, send check or money order for $11.95 plus tax and $2 for shipping (a total of $14.67 in Kentucky) to Bobby Himes, 721 Lebanon Avenue, Campbellsville, Ky. 42718. For more information, contact Himes at the aforementioned address or at (270) 465-8776.

The book is also available at Mary Anne's Hallmark, The Tulip Tree and the Campbellsville University Barnes & Noble Bookstore, all of which are located in Campbellsville.

Himes taught at CU for 40 years and also served as special assistant to President Michael V. Carter. ➤

University faculty receive doctorates, tenure and promotions

BY ANNE K. GALITO, Assistant Editor

Donna Irwin, assistant professor of education and a CU alumna, recently received her Ph.D. in music education from the University of Kentucky. She earned both her bachelor and master of music in music education from Campbellsville University. She has been employed at CU since 2001.

Teresa Spurling, assistant professor of education and a CU alumna, recently received a Ph.D. from Capella University. She is a 1970 graduate of Campbellsville College, a 1973 graduate of Western Kentucky University and a 2003 graduate of the American College of Metaphysical Theology. She has been employed at CU since 2001.

The CU Board of Trustees awarded tenure to the following faculty members: Dr. Frieda Gebert, associate professor of music and assistant dean of the School of Music; Dr. Dwayne Howell, associate professor of Old Testament and Hebrew; Stan McKinney, assistant professor of journalism; and Dr. Jacquelyn Sandifer, associate professor of criminal justice.

Gebert received her bachelor of arts degree from the University of South Florida, her master of fine arts from the University of Florida and a doctorate of musical arts from the University of Texas at Austin. She has been employed at CU since 2003.

Howell received his bachelor of arts degree from Campbellsville College and his master of divinity, master of theology and Ph.D. from The Southern Theological Seminary. He has been employed at CU since 1999.

McKinney received his bachelor of science and master of science from Murray State University. He has been employed at CU since 2000.

Sandifer received her bachelor of arts degree from Methodist College, master of arts from Middle Tennessee State University and Ph.D. from the University of Tennessee.

The Board of Trustees also approved the following promotions: Dr. Eric Bruns to associate professor of psychology, Roger Foster to assistant professor of business administration, Jason Garrett to assistant professor of communication, Dr. Susan Howell to professor of psychology and Dr. Janet Miller to professor of mathematics.

Bruns received his bachelor of arts degree from Indiana University, master of arts degree from the University of Houston Clear Lake and doctorate of psychology from Spalding University. He has been employed at CU since 2003.

Foster received his bachelor of arts and master of business administration from the University of Louisville. He has been employed at CU since 1984.

Garrett received a bachelor of arts degree from Lees-McRae College and a master of arts degree from Regent University. He is pursuing a doctorate from Regent University. He has been employed at CU since 2003.

Howell received a bachelor of science degree from Campbellsville College, and a master of education and doctor of education from the University of Louisville. She has been employed at CU since 1995.

Miller received an associate of arts degree from Elizabethtown Community College, bachelor of science degree from Campbellsville College, master of science degree from Western Kentucky University and doctor of education from the University of Kentucky. She has been employed at CU since 1987. ➤

CU and Simmons College establish partnership

BY JOAN C. MCKINNEY, Editor

Campbellsville University and Simmons College of Kentucky established a partnership March 8 to facilitate the learning experiences of both institutions. The partnership promotes faculty and student exchanges, worship endeavors and technology pursuits.

The partnership was signed by Dr. Michael V. Carter, CU president, and Dr. Kevin W. Cosby, president of Simmons College, on the campus of Simmons located in Louisville.

"This day is a historic and important time in the life of these two institutions," said Carter.

Campbellsville University, located about 80 miles from Simmons, has an enrollment of about 2,200 students, and Simmons has about 100 students.

"Where there is no vision, the people perish," said Cosby, quoting Proverbs 29:18. "We Christians have a large, titanic vision."

John Chowning, vice president for church and external relations and executive assistant to the president of CU, said both institutions are expanding and growing and each recognize the benefits found in innovative partnerships.

"As the oldest African-American higher education institution in Kentucky, we recognize and affirm the role that Simmons has made in this community, state and world," he said.

Campbellsville University is celebrating her 100th birthday in 2006. The University offers 41 areas of study with nine graduate programs. Simmons College of Kentucky was founded in 1879 by the State Convention of Colored Baptist Churches in Kentucky and offers a bachelor of arts degree in religious studies, a bachelor of arts degree in theology, and non-degree programs and a diploma in Christian Ministry Studies. Dr. Kevin W. Cosby was named 13th president of the institution in January 2005. Simmons continues to prepare Christians for ministry, while reinstating the initial mission of general education.

The new partnership ensures that Simmons College credits are transferable to CU and that qualified Simmons graduates may enter CU's graduate programs. In addition, CU and Simmons faculty may work together in areas of research and professional development, and CU will explore cooperative use of its library with Simmons via online technology and main campus visitation. CU will also provide appropriate technical assistance to Simmons, specifically as it applies to accreditation and athletic program development.

The partnership announcement also included the establishment of the Samuel Plato School of Technology Training at Simmons. The School is named for one of Simmons' greatest graduates, a prominent African-American architect and builder who not only made important contributions to the African-American community in Louisville but also achieved national recognition for his imaginative designs elsewhere in the country.

The Samuel Plato School of Technology will teach the skills necessary for the industrial and construction fields. Some introductory, individual classes may be completed in as little as six weeks, and an accelerated, one-year certificate program is also offered. Campbellsville University's highly successful Technology Training Center will serve as a model and will partner with Simmons' Plato School of Technology.

Cosby said "joblessness is hopelessness," and there is now hope for people in the West End of Louisville, an area in which there has been darkness. "What better institution to work with than Campbellsville University," he said.

"Campbellsville University and Simmons College officials are building a spirit of joy, friendship and trust as our students build on a rich heritage of theology-based education," said Carter. 🍀

Dr. Michael V. Carter, president of Campbellsville University, left, shows Dr. Kevin Cosby, president of Simmons College of Kentucky in Louisville, an industrial room at CU's Technology Training Center. (CU Photo by Joan C. McKinney)

CU President Michael V. Carter, right, and Simmons President, Kevin Cosby, shake hands after details of the partnership between the two institutions were announced at a press conference. (CU Photo by Joan C. McKinney)

Discussing the partnership between Campbellsville University and Simmons College of Kentucky include from left: Clockwise – John E. Chowning, vice president for church and external relations and executive assistant to the president; CU President Dr. Michael V. Carter; Dr. Mary Wilgus, dean of the CU College of Arts and Sciences and professor of history; Dr. Frank Cheatham, vice president for academic affairs; the Rev. Ken Jobst, vice president of admissions and dean of students at Simmons; the Rev. J. Ronald Sams, executive vice president at Simmons; Dr. Mary Weathers, vice president for academic affairs at Simmons; Dr. Kevin Cosby, president of Simmons; and Montie Self, assistant vice president for academic affairs at Simmons. (CU Photo by Joan C. McKinney)

CU celebrates students during annual Honors and Awards Day

“Today is a wonderful day in the life of your academic journey and in the life of Campbellsville University.”

DR. MICHAEL V. CARTER
PRESIDENT

BY MAEGAN KENNEDY, Student News Writer

“Today is a wonderful day in the life of your academic journey and in the life of Campbellsville University,” said Dr. Michael V. Carter, president, during the 2006 Honors and Awards Day chapel/convocation. Numerous students received awards and were given plaques, money, books and other gifts at the annual event at Campbellsville Baptist Church.

Those recognized as valedictorian, all of whom received 4.0 grade point averages, were: Stephen Matthew Coleman; Nathan Neil Gower; Jennifer Leigh Noort; Bethany Ann Parrott and Kimberly Dawn Shuffett. Salutatorian was Jenna Renee Mattingly with a 3.99 GPA.

Recognized for having attained summa cum laude distinction, with GPAs of 3.85 to 4.0, were: Stephen Matthew Coleman; Nathan Neil Gower; Jennifer Leigh Noort; Bethany Ann Parrott; Kimberly Dawn Shuffett; Jenna Renee Mattingly; Jimmie Kay Tiefel Singerman; Amelia Brooke Douglas; Ashley Kinman Neufeld; Jennifer Marie Spalding; Chelsie Benton Walsh; Sarah Jane Richey; Danielle LeeAnn Norris; Jaclyn Rosanne Shely; Sandahl Elizabeth Logsdon; Jason Harold Reynolds; Amy Catherine Blackwood; and Natalie Rae Klopfenstein.

Honored as magna cum laude graduates with GPAs from 3.70 to 3.84 were: Sarah Elizabeth Vinson Norberto; Edwin Kyle Caven; Kristi Kay Lewis; Jennifer Michelle Bruckert; Vicki Lynn Bryant Newton; Kacey Mae King; Jodi Leah Johnson; Brittany Dawn O'Banion; Jaclyn Annette Payne; Angela Michelle Graham; Mary Ann Gilliland; Robyn Adkinson Reinle; Bradley C. Wilson; James Robert Bennett; Jonathan Paul Arvin; Andrea Joan Tucker; Misty Renee Curry; Ticiane Fontenele Lucas; Timothy James Eubanks; Rochelle Susanne Wheatley; and Landon Jackson Tingle.

Cum laude gradates with GPAs from 3.5 to 3.69 include: Jessica Diane Raymond; Tammy Renee Bustle; Brandon Heath Higgs; Julie Ann Davenport; Joshua Steven Gupton; Stephen Francis Zink; Barbara Elizabeth Goff; Claire Brittany Allen; Stephanie Renee Brown; Sara Elizabeth Reid; Lyssa Rebekah Hatton Drummond; Margie L. Walker; Amanda Hunt Goff; Steven Wayne Shields; Christen Marie Roszkowski; Rachael Nicole Shively; Anna Dalyn Gordon; Michael Adrian Traylor; Kwaku Osebreh; and Cassie Young.

Candace Michelle Hinkle received the Student Government Association's Extra Mile student award while Andrew Ward, CU director of student activities and intramurals, was the award's faculty/staff recipient. Dr. DeWayne Frazier, dean of international education, was presented the Challenger Award.

CU recognized several individuals with the Servant Leadership Award, including Dr. Patricia Cowherd, dean of the School of Business and Economics; the Rev. Ed Pavy Sr., director of campus ministries; and students Lindey Kate Nelson and Corri Jermaine Irving.

Alumni Association Awards were presented as follows: Talent Award--Amelia Brooke Douglas; Leadership Award--Vanessa Cross Sadler; Double A (academics and athletics) Award--Jennifer Leigh Noort; Don Doyle Spirit Award--Jennifer Michele Bruckert; Outstanding Senior Award--Kwaku Osebreh; Achievement Award--Yolanda Booker Johnson; and Athletic Award--Lyssa Rebekah Hatton Drummond.

Academic Awards given included: Biology, Sarah Elizabeth Vinson Norberto; Chemistry, Sara Elizabeth Reid; Pre-Professional Award, Andrea Joan Tucker; Accounting, Jennifer Marie Spalding; Administrative Technology, Sandahl Elizabeth Logsdon; Business Administration, Sarah Jane Richey; Economics, Jaclyn Annette Payne and Brandon Heath Higgs; Management, Natalie Rae Klopfenstein; Marketing, Stephen Francis Zink; Art, Claire Brittany Allen; Outstanding Senior Music Award (instrumental area), Nilson Galvao Santos; Outstanding Senior Music Award (vocal/keyboard area), Anna Dalyn Gordon; William K. Pennebaker Education Awards: P-5, Rachael Nicole Shively; 8-12, Jimmie Kay Tiefel Singerman;

continued on page 34

The co-valedictorians for the class of 2006 were named during the Honors and Awards Day chapel/convocation ceremony. Pictured are, from left, Dr. Frank D Cheatham, vice president for academics; Kimberly Dawn Shuffett of Greensburg, Ky.; Bethany Ann Parrott of Versailles, Ky.; Jennifer Leigh Noort of Lexington, Ky.; Nathan Neil Gower of Henderson, Ky.; Stephen Matthew Coleman of Hopkinsville, Ky.; and Dr. Michael V. Carter, president. (CU Photo by Tiago Pinheiro)

Campbellsville University 20th annual Excellence in Teaching Awards presented to 156 teachers

BY JOAN C. MCKINNEY, Editor, and AMANDA BEWLEY, Student News Writer

Campbellsville University, in partnership with Lexington, Ky., CBS-affiliate WKYT-TV, recognized 156 teachers at the 20th annual Excellence in Teaching Awards Program May 13. The teachers represent public and private school systems in 60 Kentucky school districts.

CU president Michael V. Carter welcomed the teachers and told them their work is “critical for the Commonwealth of Kentucky, the nation and the world.”

The Excellence in Teaching Awards Program recognizes the quality of teaching and learning taking place in the school systems throughout Kentucky. The program was begun in 1987 by Campbellsville University with assistance from Earl Aaron and the Ward, Cundiff and Aaron Memorial Fund at the university. Plaques are presented to teachers in each grade level (elementary [P-5], middle [6-8] and high school [9-12]) as selected by their school district. Since the program’s inception in 1987, 1,936 teachers have been honored by their colleagues.

The Excellence in Teaching Award recipients include:

Adair County School System -

Melissa G. Garmon, John Adair Intermediate School; Ryan N. McQueary, Sparksville, Shepherd and Knifley Grade Schools; and Stephen Ray Martin, Adair County High School, a 1982 CU graduate.

Stephen Ray Martin ('82)

Barren County School System -

Polly B. Sparks, Hiseville Elementary School; Anthony B. Janes, Barren County Middle School; Mary Letitia Hughes, Barren County High School; and Barbara Ann Burks, Barren County Alternative School.

Bell County School System - Jennifer Lynn Wilder, Bell Central School Center; Lisa Caldwell Redmon, Yellow Creek Elementary School; and Deidra Davis-Evans, Bell County High School.

Bourbon County School System - Ann Marie White, Bourbon Central Elementary School; Daniel Ray Dampier, Bourbon County Middle School; and Michael Lawrence Bess, Bourbon County High School.

Bowling Green Independent School System - Martha Ann Kirby, Potter Gray Elementary School; and Stacy B. Kupchella, Bowling Green Jr. High School.

Boyle County School System - Kathy B. Ponsoll, Woodlawn Elementary School; Karen Suzanne Edwards, Boyle County Middle School; and Monica L. Ballard, Boyle County High School.

Bullitt County School System - Sheri Marie Hamilton, Mt. Washington Elementary School; Sandy McFelia Bayens, Bullitt Lick Middle School; and Timothy Dean Lands, Bullitt Central High School.

Burgin Independent School System - Mindy Elise Henson, Burgin Elementary School; and Emma J. Bradshaw, Burgin High School.

Campbellsville Independent School System - Garnetta Bale Murrell, Campbellsville Elementary School; Jessica Johns McCubbin, Campbellsville Middle School, a 2001 CU graduate; and Dee Ann Doss, Campbellsville High School, a 2000 CU graduate.

Jessica Johns McCubbin ('01)

Casey County School System - Beverly S. Smith, Douglas Elementary School; Karin S. Weddle, Casey County Middle School; and Shannon Ray Williams, Casey County High School.

Caverna Independent School System - Sheri Lynn Gilpin, Caverna Elementary School; Sandra Dianne Piper, Caverna Middle School; and Matthew W. Hawkins, Caverna High School.

Dee Ann Doss ('00)

Danville Independent School System - Elizabeth Caldwell Stamps, Jennie Rogers Elementary School; Brenda Roberts Ellis, Bate Middle School; and Patricia White Calvert, Danville High School.

Daviess County School System - Kimberly Gayle Severs, East View Elementary School; Jennifer J. McFadden, Daviess County Middle School; and Laura D. Conkright, Apollo High School.

Elizabethtown Independent School System - Jessica Lynn Hundley, Morningside Elementary School; and Belinda L. Stark, Elizabethtown High School.

Estill County School System - DeAnna Sue Martin, Estill Springs Elementary School; Dr. Jamie Dean Neal, Estill County Middle School; and Amy H. Farmer, Estill County High School.

Fort Knox Community School System - Dianna B. Campbell, Scott Middle School; and Paul Charles Colonna, Fort Knox High School.

Gallatin County School System - Nancy Anderson Perkins, Gallatin County Elementary School.

“Their work is critical for the Commonwealth of Kentucky, the nation and the world.”

DR. MICHAEL V. CARTER
PRESIDENT

continued on page 14

continued from page 13

Garrard County School System - Diana A. Ross, Lancaster Elementary School; Sue Gilvin, Garrard County Middle School; and Katie Webb, Garrard County High School.

Glasgow Independent School System - Tajuana Kaye Lisenby, Highland Elementary School; Janice C. Davenport, Glasgow Middle School; and Billy L. Lindsey, Glasgow High School.

Grayson County School System - Mary S. Embry, Caneyville Elementary School; Patricia Gibson Johnson, Grayson County Middle School, a 1985 CU graduate; and Lana Jo Green-Willis, Grayson County High School.

Patricia Gibson Johnson ('85)

Green County School System - Amanda Gail Abell, Greensburg Elementary School.

Hancock County School System - Michelle Gregory, North Hancock Elementary School; and David L. Hobbs, Hancock County High and Middle schools.

Hardin County School System - Laura Beth Hayes, Lakewood Elementary School, a 2003 and 2006 CU graduate.

Laura Beth Hayes ('03, M '06)

Harlan County School System - Cheryl Lynn Sergent, Wallins Elementary School; Minnie E. Cornett Bailey, Cumberland Elementary School; and Kimberly Michelle Evans, Evarts High School.

Harlan Independent School System - Amanda G. Doan, Harlan Elementary School; Beverly Collett Gilliam, Harlan Middle School; and Shannon R. Lawson, Harlan High School.

Hart County School System - Carol V. Huber, Bonnierville Elementary School; Shane Butler, Cub Run Elementary School; and Elizabeth Ann Mitchum, Hart County High School.

Jackson County School System - Patricia K. Wiessner Myers, Jackson County Alternative School, a 1997 CU graduate.

Patricia K. Myers ('97)

Jackson Independent School System - Lesley Ann Wolfe, Jackson City School; Beth Ellen Neihof, Jackson City School; and Jessica Kaye Bowling, Jackson City School.

Kenton County School System - Donna Lyden Schomaker, Ryland Heights Elementary School; Angela Brehm, Turkey Foot Middle School; and Thaddeus J. Dusing, Dixie Heights High School.

Kentucky Christian School - Georgetta B. Johnson.

Kentucky School for the Deaf - Deborah B. Gresham; Marilyn B. Holderman; and Lisa M. Kingsley.

Knox County School System - Judith Lynn Hinkle, G.R. Hampton Elementary School; and Rebecca Lynn Cain, G.R. Hampton Elementary School; and Tracie R. Luttrell, Knox Central High School.

LaRue County School System - Vicki Lynn McGrew, Buffalo Elementary School; Rollanda L. Grubbs, LaRue County Intermediate School, a 1985 CU graduate; and Summer T. Garris, LaRue County High School.

Rollanda L. Grubbs ('85)

Laurel County School System - Amy Reed Collier, Colony Elementary School; Priscilla Wilkerson, North Laurel Middle School; and Cynthia Cupp, North Laurel High School.

Letcher County School System - Regina Brown, Letcher County Central High School.

Madison County School System - Peggy Reister Blankenship, White Hall Elementary School; Jane H. Clouse, Madison Middle School; and Robert Clarence Griggs, Jr., Madison Central High School.

Marion County School System - Jill Marie Thomas, Calvary Elementary School, a 1992 and 1994 CU graduate; Bobby R. VanDyke, Lebanon Middle School, a 1995 CU graduate; and Nancy Colvin, Marion County High School, a 1992 and 1997 CU graduate.

Jill Marie Thomas ('92, M '94)

Mercer County School System - Dawn E. Camic, Mercer County Elementary School, a 1982 CU graduate.

Metcalfe County School System - Robin Ann Davis, Summer Shade Elementary School; Van Jason Peden, Metcalfe County Middle School; and Dennis "Scott" Roach, Metcalfe County High School.

Dawn E. Camic ('82)

Middlesboro Independent School System - Tessa Miracle, Middlesboro Primary School; Charlotte George Webb, Middlesboro Intermediate School; Rebecca S. Holt, Middlesboro Middle School; and Linda S. Leach, Middlesboro High School.

Monroe County School System - Betty Jo Carter, Tompkinsville Elementary School, a 1972 CU graduate; Hope Downing Myatt, Monroe County Middle School; and Jason Lee Dodson, Monroe County High School.

Betty Jo Carter ('72)

Montgomery County - Dawn Elizabeth Justice, Camargo Elementary School.

Monticello Independent School System - Sylvia J. Hicks, Monticello Elementary School; Margaret Ellen Broadhurst, Monticello Middle School; and Jane Dalton, Monticello High School.

Nelson County School System - Amy Elizabeth Hurst, The New Haven Elementary School; Susan L. Hey, Bloomfield Middle School; and Laura Sue Humphress Mason, Nelson County High School, a 1997 CU graduate.

Laura Sue Humphress Mason ('97)

Paducah Independent School System - Carol A. Withrow, McNabb Elementary School; Nora L. Cox, Paducah Middle School; and Connie A. Byrd, Paducah Tilghman High School.

Paris Independent School System - Michele R. Sturgeon, Paris Elementary School; and Sarah Sparks, Paris High School.

Perry County School System - Rachel C. Adams, Dennis C. Wooton Elementary School; Teresa Kay Anderton, Robert W. Combs Elementary School; and Anthony Melton, Perry County Central High School.

Pike County School System - Kathleen Smith, Phelps Elementary School; Amy Sue Reed Swiney, Southside Elementary School; and Dr. Haridas Chandran, Belfry High School.

Pulaski County School System - Timothy J. Eaton, superintendent; Amy Renee Polston, Nancy Elementary School; Sandra Phelps, Burnside Elementary School; and Jennifer Butcher, Northern Middle School.

Rockcastle County School System - Julie Dowell Asher, Mt. Vernon Elementary School; Tamara F. Gabbard, Rockcastle County Middle School; and Tillman G. Daugherty, Rockcastle County High and Middle schools.

Rowan County School System - Martha K. Thompson, McBrayer Elementary School; James Victor Padula Jr., Rowan County Middle School; and Melinda Kay Daniel, Rowan County Senior High School.

Russellville Independent School System - Tammy Ann Corum, Stevenson Elementary School; and Kimberly Ann McDaniel, Russellville Middle School.

Science Hill Independent School System - Mary Bunch Silvers, Science Hill Elementary School; and Frankia Raye Fisher, Science Hill Elementary School.

Simpson County School System - Emily K. Satterly, Simpson Elementary School; Pam J. Rowland, Lincoln Elementary School; and Stoye Wayne Young, Franklin-Simpson High School.

Somerset Independent School System - Robin M. Wilson, Hopkins Elementary School; Jennifer Bea Beasley, Meece Middle School; and Jim Brown, Somerset High School.

Taylor County School System - Rhonda G. Yates, Taylor County Elementary School, a 2002 CU graduate; Donna K. Williams, Taylor County Middle School, a 1982, 1994, 1998 CU graduate; and David Garnett Parsons, Taylor County High School, a 1976 CU graduate.

Rhonda G. Yates ('02)

Todd County School System - Gayla Monroe Mansfield, North Todd Elementary School; and Donjea Maria Revo, Todd County Central High School.

Warren County School System - Cheryl Jo Potter Hughes, Alvaton Elementary School; and Jennifer Beth Skaggs, Warren East High School.

Donna K. Williams ('82, '94, M '98)

Washington County School System - Donna K. White, North Washington Elementary School, a 1994 CU graduate; Scott Joseph Mudd, Washington County Middle School; and Timothy Gene Messer, Washington County High School.

Williamsburg Independent School System - Mary Susan Jaynes, Williamsburg School; John Fredrick Harris, Williamsburg School; and Paula R. Connell, Williamsburg School.

David Garnett Parsons ('76)

Campbellsville University has 41 programs of study with associate, bachelor and master's degrees. 🍁

Donna K. White ('94)

CU awards honorary doctorate to Richardson

“Mr. Richardson has served CU and his Lord with honor and distinction.”

DR. FRANK CHEATHAM
CU VICE PRESIDENT FOR ACADEMIC AFFAIRS

BY JOAN C. MCKINNEY, Editor

H.R. Richardson, a retired educator in the Campbellsville Independent School System and at Campbellsville University, was awarded an honorary doctorate of public service May 27 in a service on CU's campus.

Dr. Frank Cheatham, vice president for academic affairs, at CU, said Richardson, who taught as an adjunct biology professor at CU, thought of teaching as “more than a job - it was a way of life.”

Cheatham said Richardson was a committed teacher who had a positive influence on his students, including Cheatham's daughter who gained self-confidence with Richardson as her teacher.

“Mr. Richardson has served Campbellsville University and his Lord with honor and distinction,” he said.

Richardson expressed his gratitude to CU, to his family and to his late wife, “who was really the backbone of our family.”

Richardson and his wife, the late Beulah Rice Richardson, had four sons: Dr. Tadarro Richardson, a practicing internal medicine physician in Lexington and hospitalist with Samaritan Hospital in Lexington; Dr. Zindell Richardson, dentist and major in the United States Air Force in Florida; Durrell Richardson, an engineer for Tennessee Gas Company in Nashville, Tenn.; and Damarco Richardson, a Postal Service employee in Campbellsville.

Richardson was a public school biology teacher for 37 years. He taught 11 years in segregated black schools, including Arista and Campbellsville Durham High School, and 26 years in the integrated Campbellsville High School.

Cheatham said Richardson was one of the first group of African-American public school teachers in the local public schools following integration in the early 1960s. He was a member of the original board of directors of Taylor Regional Hospital and has served for a number of years as a member of the board of commissioners of the Housing Authority of Campbellsville.

Richardson is a long-time member of First Baptist Church in Campbellsville, where he taught Sunday School for more than 40 years and served for 38 years as superintendent of the Sunday School.

Richardson attended Arista's one-room school in Taylor County during his first five years of schooling. He continued his education at Durham High School in Campbellsville, where he graduated with honors.

He attended Kentucky State College in Frankfort for one year, after which he volunteered for the United States Army. He became Staff Sergeant of the 368th Quarter-Master Truck Company known as the “Red Ball Express.”

He was in the Normandy Invasion and received four Bronze Stars, the American Theater Ribbon, Good Conduct Medal and World War II Victory Medal.

He graduated from Kentucky State College in 1949 with his bachelor of science degree. He received his master of science in animal husbandry and rank I requirements from Michigan State University.

Richardson began teaching biology at Campbellsville University in January 1973 and continued during his public school career as an adjunct professor. Following his retirement from Campbellsville High School, he taught at CU for ten more years.

continued on page 17

Dr. Frank Cheatham, vice president for academic affairs at CU, and Joe Walters, a member of the CU Board of Trustees, presenting the hood to H.R. Richardson. (CU Photo by Joan C. McKinney)

Centennial Campaign leadership honored

BY JOAN C. MCKINNEY, Editor

The leadership in the $35 million Centennial Campaign was recognized at the April 25 Board of Trustees' meeting.

Dr. Michael V. Carter, president, and Dr. Dave Morris, chair of the board, acknowledged the leadership of those who had helped in the campaign.

Dr. Bruce E. Heilman, a 1949 alumnus, was recognized as honorary chair of the campaign. The resolution said he has provided "significant leadership" as honorary chair and that he has agreed to continue as honorary chair for the $15 million phase II extension of the campaign. He was praised for his "dedication and commitment" as were the honorary co-chairs.

Larry Noe, who attended CU in 1971, was praised for his work as honorary co-chair of the campaign. He also has agreed to continue as honorary co-chair of the extension of the campaign.

Jerry Bennett, a 1963 graduate who died May 30, 2006, was recognized as honorary co-chair also.

Dr. Jay Conner was also honored as co-chair of the campaign, and he too will continue to serve.

Morris was honored also as an honorary co-chair and will continue in that capacity.

All were honored for their "time, talents, energy and personal resources" to assist in the campaign success. ➤

Members of the Campbellsville University Board of Trustees are honored for their service to the Centennial Campaign by Dr. Michael V. Carter, third from left, president. From left, are Dr. Jay Conner, Dr. Dave Morris, Carter, and Dr. E. Bruce Heilman. (CU Photo by Joan C. McKinney)

continued from page 16

Richardson has received numerous awards including: Kentucky Star Teacher's Award from Campbellsville High School, Recognition Award from the State Board of Education, Outstanding Achievement Award as a classroom teacher, Campbellsville Citizen of the Year in recognition of community service, Campbellsville-Taylor

County Chamber of Commerce Award from the Kentucky Senate and the Humanitarian Award from the Taylor County Civic League, and the inaugural Outstanding CU Adjunct Faculty Award in 1992. He was the first African-American to serve on the Board of Regents at Western Kentucky University. ➤

"Teaching is more than a job - it was a way of life."

H.R. RICHARDSON
CAMPBELLSVILLE UNIVERSITY
RETIRED

H.R. Richardson, center, is shown with his sons. From left are: Dr. Tadarro Richardson, Damarco Richardson, H.R. Richardson, Durrell Richardson and Dr. Zindell Richardson. (CU Photo by Joan C. McKinney)

Campbellsville University celebrates completion of $35 million Centennial Campaign; $15 million extension authorized

“It was a dream to begin transforming a new generation through a journey of faith as Campbellsville University entered her 2nd century of education and service.”

DR. ALAN G. MEDDERS
CU VICE PRESIDENT
FOR DEVELOPMENT

BY JOAN C. MCKINNEY, Editor, and CASIE ANDERSON, Student News Writer

It was a time for celebrating as Campbellsville University president Michael V. Carter announced the successful completion of the university’s $35 million Centennial Campaign as well as announcing a $15 million extension to the campaign at a Centennial Campaign Dinner April 24 in the Winters Dining Hall.

The $35 million campaign was finished 17 months ahead of schedule, Carter said, and the university’s Board of Trustees has authorized an extension of $15 million to be completed by June 30, 2009. Dr. Alan G. Medders, vice president for development, said the $15 million extension will earmark $5 million for capital, $5 million for the annual fund and $5 million for endowment. A total of $1,195,325 has already been raised toward the $15 million extension.

Capital funds from the campaign will be used to complete the Ransdell Chapel, construct the new School of Education, the new auxiliary gymnasium, a new School of Business, the third building in the Heilman Student Complex, additional residence halls and provide field turf and lights on Tiger Stadium. The annual fund will provide an increase in student scholarships and faculty salaries and the implementation of new and sustaining of current academic programs. Endowment funds will secure an increase in endowed scholarships, professorships and facility maintenance.

“It was a dream to begin transforming a new generation through a journey of faith as Campbellsville University entered her second century of education and service,” said Medders.

James M. Achterhof, chairman of the board of the Richard Van Lunen Foundation, presented a $250,000 check during the School of Nursing dedication on April 25. The check represents a portion of $750,000 to be used for the new School of Nursing building.

The Van Lunen Foundation has previously awarded CU $300,000 to establish the Summer Educational Experience (SEE) Program, and the Van Lunen Foundation commitments to Campbellsville University are over $1 million.

“We are a foundation dedicated to Christian education,” Achterhof said. He said foundation members decide to whom to give money based on whether the institution is thoroughly Christian, which he said CU is, what impact the institution will have on lives and whether it will make a difference in others’ lives.

“We are excited about CU’s vision,” he said. “Campbellsville University has made great strides, and we want to see it expand.”

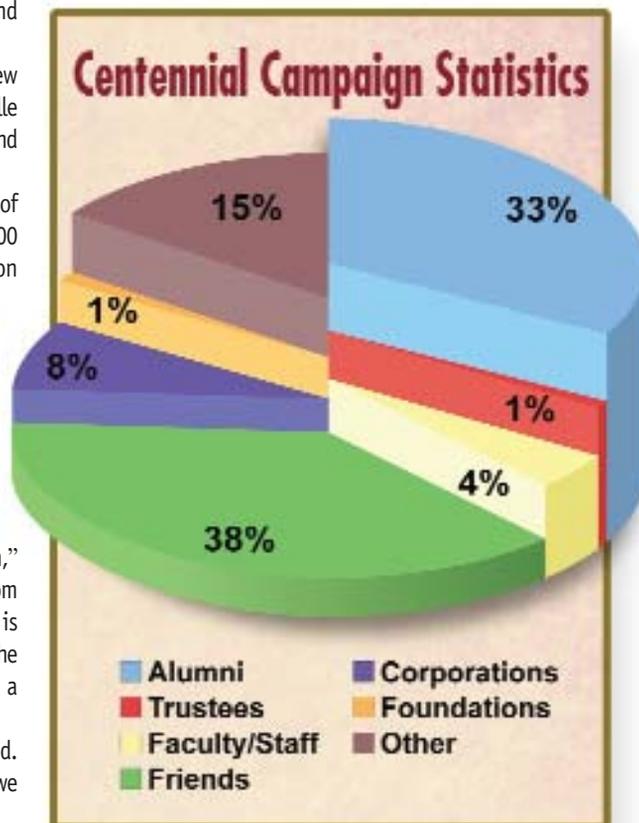

“You can’t walk around campus and not get excited,” said Carter, who is serving in his eighth year as president. “There is a sweet spirit on campus.”

Carter said CU didn’t get to its prominence today without the successful leadership of her former presidents, including two former presidents who were both present at the celebratory dinner.

Dr. W.R. Davenport, who lives in Campbellsville, served CU from 1969 to 1988, and Dr. Kenneth W. Winters followed Davenport from 1988 to 1999. Also present at the dinner was Lenora Carter, widow of Dr. John Mark Carter, who served as CU president from 1948 to 1968.

“Our job is not done, and our mission continues,” said Carter. “We will continue to place Christ first and continue to educate the body, mind and souls of our students. Campbellsville University has not seen her best days. Campbellsville University is strong and healthy as we approach her 100th year birthday.”

For more information about the Centennial Campaign, contact Medders at (270) 789-5211 or agmedders@campbellsville.edu.

$15 Million Centennial Campaign Extension

$5 million for Capital	$5 million for Annual	$5 million for Endowment
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Complete Ransdell Chapel Complete School of Education Complete Auxiliary Gym Construct a School of Business Complete third building in the Heilman Student Complex Construct additional dorms Field turf and lights on Tiger Stadium 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Increase student scholarships Increase faculty salaries Implement new & sustain current academic programs 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Increase endowed scholarships Increase endowed professorships Increase endowment for facility maintenance

Laura Tesseneer of Campbellsville, former grants writer for CU, listens during the Centennial Campaign Dinner. (CU Photo by Anne K. Galito)

Jenna Lines, a sophomore from Imperial, Neb. gave a student's prospective of the changes having taken place at CU. (CU Photo by Anne K. Galito)

Among those attending the Campbellsville University Centennial Campaign Dinner Celebration were, from left: Dr. Robert L. Doty, CU professor of English; Mary Ellen Coker, widow of former CU professor Dr. H.E. Coker; J.B. Crawley, CU alumnus; Dr. James Jones, CU Church Relations Council outreach special assistant; and Sharon Watson Hedrick, also a CU alumnae. (CU Photo by Anne K. Galito)

Covenant - Campbellville University LEAVING A LEGACY...

Dr. Alan Medders

A Financial Planning Guide for Alumni and Friends of Campbellville University

A Supplement to the Campbellsvillian

The Covenant Society is a recognition society for those who make Campbellville University a part of their estate plan by including the university in their wills, making the university a beneficiary of insurance policies in which ownership has been assigned to the university, or by participating in any of the various life-income plans Campbellville University has available. Today, over 200 alumni and friends are members of the Covenant Society. If the university is part of your estate plan, let us know!

BY DR. ALAN G. MEDDERS, Vice President for Development

Christian Stewardship For Your Estate

Over the past five years in the Covenant, I have outlined many of the planned giving options available to individuals. Planned gifts are not a one-size-fits-all proposition, and it is important to examine all the options to determine the maximum benefit for you and the institutions you wish to support. One planned gift option that probably receives the least amount of attention is the Charitable Lead Trust.

What is a Charitable Lead Trust?

A charitable lead trust allows you to use assets you own to provide an income stream to Campbellville University for a set number of years. When the trust ends, the assets return to you or your loved ones. This trust is called a lead trust because the charity leads off by receiving income payments during the trust term.

We will first look at how a lead trust works when you want the assets to return to you, the donor. This lead trust is technically called a grantor lead trust. Next, we will look at how a lead trust works when you want the assets to pass to your children or other loved ones when the trust ends. The remaining assets return to you, your heirs or your loved ones; this is technically a non-grantor lead trust.

Grantor Lead Trusts

A charitable lead trust allows you to use assets you own to provide an income.

Benefits of a Grantor Lead Trust

You can make a significant impact on the future of Campbellville University.

You are entitled to an income tax deduction for the present value of the income payments to the University over the trust term, and you receive this deduction in the year the trust is created.

Your assets are returned to you when the trust ends

If you are treated as the owner of the trust for tax purposes (to enable you to receive an income tax deduction), you will be taxed on all the trust's income even though the University is receiving the income. However, if the trust is funded with, or invested in, tax-exempt securities, you are still the owner of the trust, but you would NOT have to pay any tax because the income is tax-exempt. This would also be the case if you funded the trust with cash and the trustee of the trust invested the cash in tax-exempt securities.

Non-Grantor Lead Trusts

The non-grantor lead trust works much like the grantor lead trust during the trust term. However, when the trust term ends, the remaining assets return to you, your heirs or your loved ones; this is technically a non-grantor lead trust.

Donors interested in non-grantor lead trusts are generally charitably minded individuals who have larger estates and are looking for ways to reduce or eliminate gift or estate taxes. Generally, income tax advantages are not a part of this plan. With a non-grantor lead trust, the donor would NOT be taxed on the income; consequently, donors often use appreciated assets to fund non-grantor lead trusts.

Donors who create lead trusts are choosing to let a significant part of what they cannot keep pass to charitable organizations like the University instead of passing to the federal government in the form of gift or estate taxes.

Benefits of a Non-Grantor Lead Trust

You can make a significant impact on the future of Campbellville University.

You can pass substantial assets to your heirs while greatly reducing, or even eliminating, gift or estate taxes you would otherwise pay.

If there has been growth in the principal during the trust term, this growth also passes to your heirs free of gift or estate tax.

As you can see, there are many ways to accomplish your goals and substantially benefit Campbellville University and her Centennial Campaign. If you would like more information about gift opportunities as well as other possibilities, contact me at:

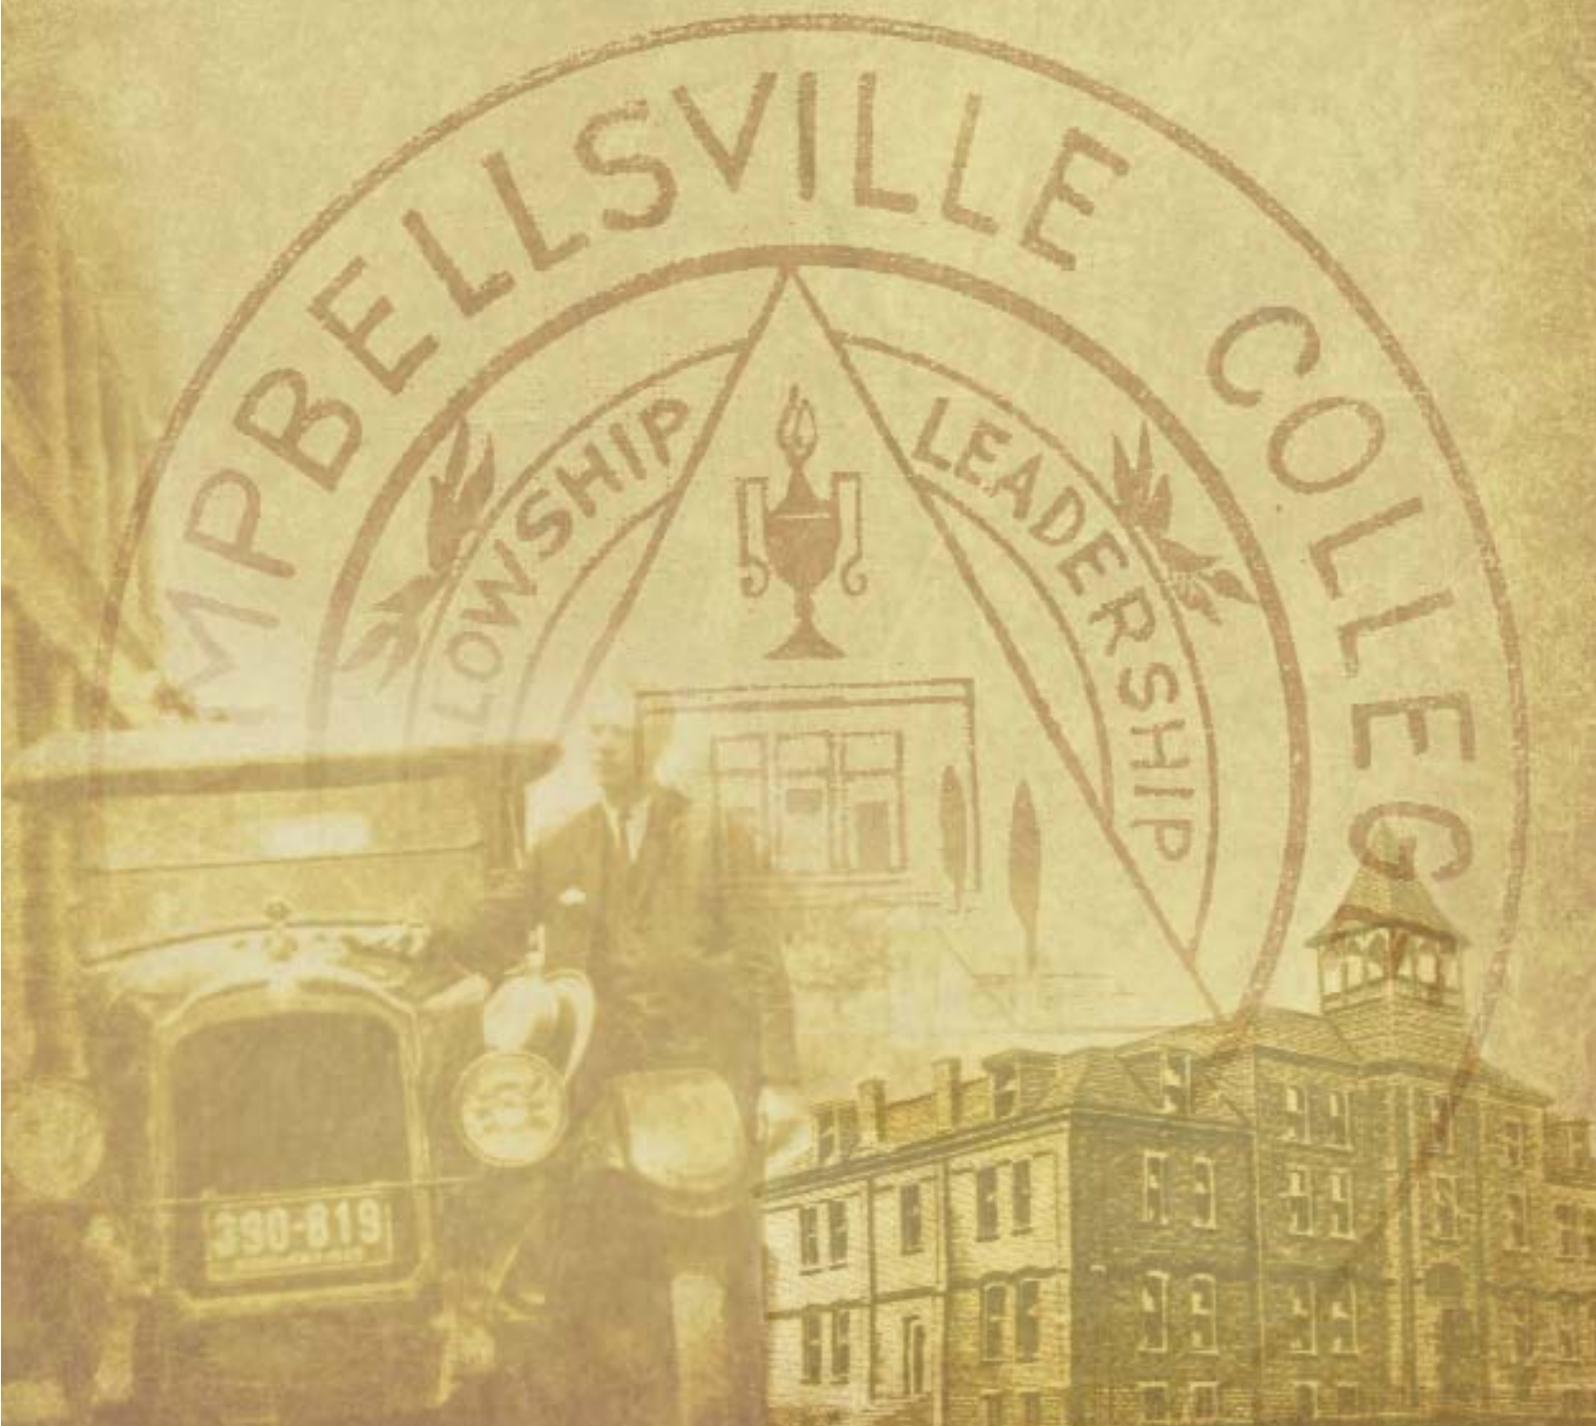

Campbellville University
1 University Drive, UPO 784
Campbellville, Ky. 42718
Phone: (270) 789-5000, ext 5211
Toll Free: 1-800-264-6014 development@campbellville.edu

There is no obligation, of course, and all inquiries are kept strictly confidential.

This information is not intended as specific legal advice. Consult your attorney when considering any legal matter. ➤

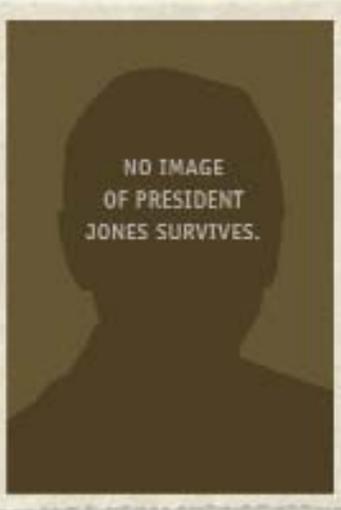

Campbellsville University

Campbellsville University Presidents

W.G. Welborn
1907–1912, 1914–1918

William Jones
1912–1913

A.R. Abernathy
1915–1918

L.E. Curry
1922–1925

George J. Burnett
1925–1926

Warren F. Jones
1926–1930, 1941–1945

W.M. Caudill
1945–1948

John M. Carter
1948–1968

J.K. Powell
1968–1969

Romulus Skaggs
1918–1922

Denton J. Wright
1930–1941

W.R. Davenport
1969–1988

Kenneth W. Winters
1988–1999

Michael V. Carter
1999–Present

*A Citation from The Senate of the Commonwealth of Kentucky
To All To Whom These Presents Shall Come, Greetings: Know Ye That
Campbellsville University*

Is recognized and honored as this esteemed and historically significant institution of higher education observes its Centennial Celebration from July 1, 2006–July 2007. Founded as Russell Creek Academy in 1906 through the Russell Creek Baptist Association, the academy began with training departments for primary, secondary, teacher and pastor training and, a year later, expanded its curriculum to include instruction in music, art and a diploma program that included Greek modern languages, college algebra and ancient history to an enrollment of 200 students. Growing and prospering through the years in its ongoing mission to provide a contemporary education based upon the heritage of educating exceptional, Christian-focused leaders, the academy became a junior college eighteen years after its founding; a senior college in 1959; attained university status in 1996; and has continued to thrive, today offering thirty-eight undergraduate and nine graduate programs to a current enrollment of over 2,200. Throughout the past century, the leaders and supporters of Campbellsville University have, through their collective vision and determination, witnessed enormous and substantial changes as the university's mission and curricula has transformed to meet the ever-evolving, liberal arts educational needs of the student body and to provide a multitude of vital endeavors which seek always to enhance and improve the quality of life for Kentucky's deserving citizens. Inasmuch as this institution of higher learning has shone forth as a laudable steward of the diverse community it serves and continues to garner recognition as one of the Commonwealth's most respected providers of Christian-based liberal arts education, Campbellsville University is afforded highest regard and commendation as it celebrates this notable milestone in its storied history and, on the motion of

*Senator Dan Kelly
Is hereby deemed by this honorable body most worthy of its recognition.
Done in Frankfort, Kentucky on this first day of July in the year two thousand and six
David L. Williams*

Dan Kelly
President of the Senate

2006-2007 Centennial Calendar *Major Centennial Events

Aug. 28–Sept. 20, 2006

Art exhibit, drawings and paintings by Ike Moody, Gosser Fine Arts Center. Reception, Monday, Aug. 28, 7–8:30 p.m.

Aug. 30, 2006

First convocation for the Fall 2006 Semester will be at 10 a.m. at Campbellsville Baptist Church. The Centennial Theme of “Transforming a New Generation: A Journey of Faith” will be woven throughout the first convocation with this serving as the official campus centennial kickoff. Centennial painting by Billie Sue Kibbons, 1975 alumnae, to be unveiled.

Sept. 2, 2006

First home football game (CU Tigers vs. Ohio Dominican)

Sept. 12, 2006 -- KHIPP

9/11 - 5 Years Later

Invited Guests: Max Wise, FBI, Lexington Joint Terrorism Task Force; Dr. Harry Mason, adjunct professor at The Patterson School of Diplomacy and International Commerce at the University of Kentucky; Captain Bill Sullivan, director of counter terrorism with the Kentucky State Police, and Dr. Andrew H. Cline, MPH, director of protective medicine for the University of Louisville’s School of Medicine in the Department of Emergency Medicine and a member of the State Emergency Response Commission, 6:30 p.m., live broadcast, Little Auditorium, Student Union Building.

Sept. 13-17, 2006

Disney Vacation - Weber International Football Game

Sept. 20, 2006

Dialogue on Race - Campus and Community Together

Invited Guest Speaker: The Rev. J.R. Sams, executive vice president, Simmons College of Kentucky. Simmons College of Kentucky is the oldest black institution of higher learning in the state. Convocation will be at 10 a.m. at Campbellsville Baptist Church.

Sept. 21, 2006

President’s Club Dinner

E. Bruce Heilman Student Center

Sept. 23, 2006

Feast of Nations, sponsored by The Center for International Education. Dr. DeWayne Frazier, dean and assistant professor of political science, is the organizer.

Sept. 25–Oct. 12, 2006

Art exhibit, Cora Renfro, alumnae 1964, Gosser Fine Arts Center.

Reception, Saturday, Oct. 7, 10:30 a.m.-1 p.m.

Sept. 28–29, 2006

Pastors and Church Leaders Conference

Theme: “Transforming a New Generation—A Journey of Faith” Featured speaker is Dr. Kevin Cosby, president of Simmons College of Kentucky.

Featured Participants: Dr. Joseph Owens, senior pastor at Shiloh Baptist Church in Lexington, Ky., and Campbellsville University alumnus and Board of Trustees member; Dr. Paul Chitwood, president, Kentucky Baptist Convention, and pastor, First Baptist Church in Mt. Washington, Ky.; Dr. Frieda Gebert, associate dean and associate professor of music, School of Music, Campbellsville University; Dr. John Hurtgen, dean, School of Theology, Campbellsville University. 2 p.m. registration, The Greens Recital Hall of the Gosser Fine Arts Center Thursday, Sept. 28. Breakout sessions will be in the Technology Training Center.

Sept. 30, 2006

Dedication of The Ron Finley Football Stadium

Oct. 4, 2006

Heritage Day Convocation, 10 a.m.

Schedule is subject to change. Please check www.campbellsville.edu and mailings for the latest information about events. The complete schedule for athletics is at www.campbellsville.edu/athletics.

Chronology of Campbellsville University History

1900

- Russell Creek Association of Baptists forms a committee to draft a charter for the Russell Creek Academy (RCA).

1907

- J.S. Stapp Hall, a residence hall, is built.
- RCA begins elementary and secondary classes in September. W.G. Welborn is appointed first principal. Normal teacher training also begins.

1906

- Charles R. Hoskins sells ten acres for the campus.
- An Administration Building, with a 500-seat auditorium, eight classrooms, music and art rooms, and play area in the basement, is finished.

1912

- Warren M. Jones becomes president for one year.

Oct. 6–7, 2006

Centennial Homecoming

(CU Tigers vs. The University of the Cumberlands)

Oct. 6, 2006

Centennial Homecoming Banquet

Winters Dining Hall, 6:30 p.m.

Oct. 7, 2006

100 Years of Sports at Campbellsville University, reception, 5 p.m.

Winters Dining Hall

Oct. 10, 2006

International Education Fair, sponsored by The Center for International Education. Dr. DeWayne Frazier, dean and assistant professor of political science, is the organizer.

Oct. 16–Nov. 2, 2006

Art exhibit, needlepoint, Debby Franklin, Russell Springs, Gosser Fine Arts Center. Reception, Monday, Oct. 16, 7-8:30 p.m.

Oct. 17, 2006—Kentucky Heartland Institute on Public Policy

The Modern Presidency- Attributes of Leadership
Invited guests: Dr. Paul Blanchard, executive director of government relations, Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond, Ky.; Dr. Walter Baker, attorney from Glasgow, Ky., former state representative and state senator; Al Smith, veteran journalist from Lexington, Ky., and host/producer of KET's longest-running public affairs program, "Comment on Kentucky," 5 p.m., Little Auditorium, Student Union Building

Oct. 26, 2006

Robertson Worship Musical Event with Kate Campbell, singer/songwriter from Nashville, Tenn., Campbellsville Baptist Church. For more than a decade, Kate Campbell has been one of the most clear-eyed, poetic and revelatory chroniclers of the Southern experience in popular music. Blessed with an angelic voice, unsinkable tunefulness, a master storyteller's eye for detail plus the even-handedness to examine life's blossoms and bruises, Campbell has assembled a body of work unsurpassed in consistency or soulful artistry.

Glenna and I extend best wishes and congratulations as Campbellsville University marks one hundred years of excellence in education. This institution has seen many changes since its founding in 1906, but the mission to provide a comprehensive and credible education for Kentucky students has remained constant.

As you commemorate a century of service, all Kentuckians can take pride in Campbellsville University's accomplishments. While we look to the university's past for its rich history and traditions, we also look forward to even greater contributions in the future.

I wish you the very best during this special centennial celebration.

Sincerely,

Ernie Fletcher
Governor
Commonwealth of Kentucky

The citizens of the City of Campbellsville extend congratulations to Campbellsville University as they celebrate their 100th year of higher education. Campbellsville University has been instrumental in putting Campbellsville on the map by providing quality education to students in this area as well as students from all over the world.

As the Mayor of Campbellsville, I am proud of the many goals and accomplishments achieved by Campbellsville University. Having achieved many awards, they continue to grow as they build new facilities and offer additional programs while furnishing a Christian environment for their students.

Brenda Allen
Mayor
City of Campbellsville

1913

- Institution is leased to Taylor County Board of Education for one year with J.P. Boling, principal. Baptist men raise funds to retain school.

1915

- RCA is accredited by the State College Association. A.R. Abernathy becomes president.

1918

- Romulus Skaggs succeeds Abernathy as president.

1914

- Welborn returns as principal. Fifty-two acre farm is bought to be used in agriculture courses and to provide jobs for students and food for the dining room.

1917

- House on southeast corner of College and Hoskins streets is purchased for a boys' residence hall.

2006-2007 Centennial Calendar continued

Oct. 27-28, 2006
Campbellsville University Family Weekend

November 2006
Bowling Green, Ky. Alumni Event
Kentucky Baptist Convention, University Plaza

November 2006
Somerset, Ky. Alumni Event
The Center for Rural Development

November 2006
Madisonville, Ky. Alumni Event
Bartholomew's Restaurant

Nov. 2, 2006 - Kentucky Heartland Institute on Public Policy
Earth Stewardship Series-"Environmental Stewardship"
Guest speaker: The Rev. James G. Ball, Ph.D, executive director of Evangelical Environmental Network, and publisher of Creation of Caremagazine in Washington, D.C., 5 p.m., Little Auditorium, Student Union Building

Nov. 4-8, 2006 - School of Education
National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education Visit

Nov. 6-22, 2006
Art exhibit, Dr. Jean Oostens, Gosser Fine Arts Center.
Reception, Monday, Nov. 17, 7-8:30 p.m.

Nov. 14-15, 2006 - Kentucky Baptist Convention
Campbellsville University Breakfast Wednesday, Nov. 15, 7 a.m., CT, Holiday Inn University Plaza, Bowling Green, Ky.

Nov. 18-20, 2006
School of Music Opera Workshop
8 p.m., The Gheens Recital Hall, Gosser Fine Arts Center
(The workshop on Nov. 19 will be at 3 p.m.)

Nov. 24-25, 2006
Lou Cunningham Basketball Classic

Nov. 27-Dec. 8, 2006
Art exhibit, Cheryl Sullivan, senior exhibit, Gosser Fine Arts Center.
Reception, TBA.

Dec. 1, 2006
Campbellsville University School of Music Christmas Tapestry
8 p.m., Campbellsville Baptist Church

Dec. 5, 2006
Campbellsville University Chorale and Concert Chorus Joint Concert
8 p.m., Campbellsville Baptist Church

Dec. 7, 2006
Campbellsville University Orchestra 8 p.m.,
Campbellsville Baptist Church

Jan. 15-Feb. 1, 2007
Art exhibit by department faculty, Linda Cundiff, Tommy Clark, Henrietta Scott and Davie Reneau, Gosser Fine Arts Center.
Reception, Monday, Jan. 15-17, 7-8:30 p.m.

Jan. 17, 2007
Dr. Martin Luther King Memorial Celebration
Invited speaker: Dr. F. Bruce Williams, pastor, Bates Memorial Baptist Church, Louisville, Ky., 7 p.m., The Gheens Recital Hall of The Gosser Fine Arts Center. The Gospel Explosion Choir, a tri-county area choir, will provide the special music.

February 2007
Bardstown, Ky. Alumni Event
Kreso's Restaurant

February 2007
Danville, Ky. Alumni Event
Cutter's Restaurant

February 2007
Nashville, Tenn. Alumni Event
Gaylord Entertainment Center (Nashville Predators Game)

Chronology of Campbellsville University History

1919

- President's home is purchased on the corner of Hoskins and Underwood streets. The campus expands to eighteen acres. Brickyard, managed by Walter Hoskins, is purchased. Its bricks, stamped RCA, are used in campus buildings.

1923

- Gymnasium, now the Student Activities Center, is built.

1922

- L. E. Curry succeeds Skaggs as president.
- An annex to Stapp Hall with large porches is built.

1924

- Last RCA class graduates; Campbellsville College High School classes continue until 1938. First term of Campbellsville Junior College begins.
- Campbellsville Junior College 1924 - 1959

February 2007

Dedication of the Ransdell Chapel and Presentation of the Commissioned Centennial Musical* presented by Dr. Robert Gaddis

February 2007

Northern, Ky./Cincinnati, Ohio Alumni Event
Newport Aquarium

Feb. 5–22, 2007

Art exhibit, Lucretia Begley and Lori Sargent, Gosser Fine Arts Center. Reception, Monday, Feb. 5-7, 7-8:30 p.m.

Feb. 7, 2007

African-American History Month Celebration

Guest speaker: Dr. David Emmanuel Goatley, executive secretary-treasurer of the Lott Carey Baptist Foreign Mission Convention, an international Christian missions agency founded in 1897 that helps churches extend their witness to the ends of the earth, and the executive director of Lott Carey International, a global relief and development agency that helps improve the quality of life in marginalized communities around the world. As the chief executive officer of these two agencies, Goatley oversees vision, administration and development efforts to invest in indigenous leadership and programs in Africa, Asia, the Caribbean, Europe, North America, Oceania and South America.
Convocation will be 10 a.m., Campbellsville Baptist Church

Feb. 26, 2007

Baptist Heritage Lecture Series

Invited speaker: Professor Carolyn Blevins, associate professor of religion, Carson-Newman College, Jefferson City, Tenn. The mission statement of the Baptist Heritage Lecture Series is to promote the study, discussion and research of Baptist historical events, theological distinctives, traditions and leaders that are unique and essential to understanding who Baptists are.

Feb. 26–March 9, 2007

Art exhibit, Timothy Eric Moore, senior exhibit, Gosser Fine Arts Center. Reception, TBA.

Dear Friends at Campbellsville University,

Congratulations on reaching your Centennial Celebration. Campbellsville University has continued to grow and thrive over the last 100 years, leading to much-deserved recognition and record student enrollments as more and more people flock to Campbellsville to “find their calling.”

More importantly, you celebrate 100 years of teaching academic excellence, instilling a love of life-long learning, and nurturing an environment of Christian fellowship. Campbellsville University has made an invaluable investment in Kentucky, and Kentucky is grateful.

Again, congratulations as your Centennial Celebration unfolds over the 2006-07 academic year. I wish the administration, faculty, students, and alumni of Campbellsville University continued success in the years to come.

Sincerely,

Mitch McConnell
United States Senator (R-Ky.)

Congratulations to Campbellsville University upon One Hundred Years of providing Christian Higher Education. Having studied at the University, I have a deep personal appreciation for the high quality of education provided in a caring and encouraging environment. I rejoice with the University in its great growth, in numbers served and the expansion of its beautiful campus.

Paul W. Patton
Taylor County Judge Executive
Campbellsville, Ky.

1925

- George J. Burnett succeeds Curry as president.

1930

- Denton J. Wright succeeds Jones as president.
- The college farm property is sold.

1940

- New Administration Building opens on January 2.

1926

- Warren F. Jones succeeds Burnett as president. The college has elementary and secondary programs, two years of college courses, and normal and business departments.

1939

- The Administration Building burns on April 14.

2006-2007 Centennial Calendar continued

March 2007
Russell Springs, Ky. Alumni Event
 Brooke and Buc's Restaurant

March 2007
London, Ky. Alumni Event
 Shiloh Restaurant

March 2007
Owensboro, Ky. Alumni Event
 Moonlight BBQ

March 8, 2007
Campbellsville University Chorale and Handbell Choir Concert
 8 p.m., The Gheens Recital Hall in the Gosser Fine Arts Center

March 19-29, 2007
Art exhibit, Donna Quick and Stephanie Walston, senior exhibit, Gosser Fine Arts Center. Reception, TBA.

March 22-23, 2007
Church Relations Council Spring Meeting
 The Spring CRC meeting will begin Thursday, March 22 and concludes on Friday, March 23 at noon. The meeting includes general sessions on both days, with a banquet on Thursday evening and committee meetings.

March 29-30, 2007
 Worship Arts Conference*
 Focus event for the new Worship Arts Area
Theme: "The Power of Lament: Passion and Praise in a Minor Key"
Keynote Speaker: Dove Award winning artist and author Michael Card Concerts: Michael Card (March 29) and John Mark McMillan, promising young Christian artist/worship leader, (March 30)

April 2007
Louisville, Ky. Alumni Event
 Louisville Bats Baseball Game

April 2007
Lexington, Ky. Alumni Event
 Lexington Legends Baseball Game

April 2-12, 2000
Art exhibit, Jessica (Jazz) Murphree and Lindey Nelson, senior exhibit, Gosser Fine Arts Center.
 Reception, TBA.

April 16-27, 2007
Art exhibit, Student Juried Show, Gosser Fine Arts Center.
 Reception, Monday, April 16, 7-8:30 p.m.

April 28, 2007
Big Maroon Club Golf Scramble

April 21, 2007
Centennial Gala Celebration
 This event will be the grand event of the Centennial Celebration. Keynote speaker pending. Event will be at the Winters Dining Hall in the E. Bruce Heilman Student Complex. The event will be a fundraiser and by invitation only.

April 23, 2007
Campbellsville University Concert Band 8 p.m., Ransdell Chapel

April 24, 2007
Campbellsville University Concert Chorus 8 p.m., Ransdell Chapel

April 26, 2007
Campbellsville University Orchestra 8 p.m., Ransdell Chapel

June 7-9, 2007
Baptist History and Heritage Society Annual Meeting
 This annual meeting includes officers meetings, fellowship of Baptist historians meeting and dinner, along with four general sessions with 150-200 people, and three breakout sessions each day. The group will have their meals in the Winters Dining Hall.

Chronology of Campbellsville University History

1941

- Warren F. Jones succeeds Wright as president.
- Elementary grades are discontinued.

1945

- W.M. Caudill succeeds Jones as president.

1949

- John M. Carter succeeds Caudill as president.

1943

- Men's residence hall is sold.

1946

- Student work program is initiated enabling students to work their way through school.

Dear Friends,

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Campbellsville University on the occasion of its 100th Anniversary.

Throughout its first century, Campbellsville University has firmly established itself as a leading institute of Higher Christian Education in our local region, across the country, and in far corners of the world. The long tenure and continued success of the university is due in large part to an impressive fidelity to its mission: academic excellence solidly grounded in the liberal arts, personal growth, integrity, and fellowship.

I particularly admire Campbellsville University's devotion to a values-centered education. The university effectively promotes personal development by combining academic excellence with the opportunity to seek spiritual growth and find true purpose in life. This approach to higher education has produced generations of talented, service-minded citizens who continue to make significant contributions to our world.

I am honored to represent Campbellsville University in the United States Congress. The university exemplifies Christian service through its consistent leadership in community affairs throughout the region. When new challenges arise in surrounding communities, Campbellsville University is always first to face the task and work toward solutions.

On a personal note, I am proud to have had many Campbellsville University graduates serve on my staff. They are a great asset to my team.

I wish Campbellsville University continued success and prosperity and look forward to good work together in the years ahead.

Ron Lewis,
United States Representative (R-Ky.)

I would like to congratulate Campbellsville University on its centennial anniversary. Since 1906, Campbellsville University has been a place for young men and women to further their education and become productive citizens. The University is a great asset to the local community and Kentucky. I am proud to have helped secure a federal grant of nearly $300,000 for the Associate Degree Nursing Program at the University. These funds have helped this vital program get off the ground.

According to US News & World Report Campbellsville University is rated as one of 'America's Best Colleges' thirteen years running. This impressive ranking is a testament to Campbellsville's students, faculty, and administration. I wish Campbellsville University continued success as it embarks on its next 100 years of higher education.

Jim Bunning
United States Senator (R-Ky.)

It is with great pleasure that I congratulate Campbellsville University on the occasion of its Centennial Celebration. I am very proud of the University's 100 years of achievement in the enrichment of the lives of its students and faculty, the community of Campbellsville and the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Since its founding as Russell Creek Academy by the Russell Creek Baptist Association, the University has been a leader in providing a Christian-based, liberal arts education to countless students from not only Kentucky, but around the world. The many Christian-focused leaders educated at Campbellsville University have used their knowledge to enhance and improve the quality of life of the communities in which they live and work.

Again, I congratulate Campbellsville University on their 100 years of success and look forward to its continued success for years to come.

Sincerely,

Dan Kelly
Senate Majority Floor Leader, Kentucky State Senate (R-Ky.)

1950

- Men's residence hall, now Carter Hall, opens. College is accredited by Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Enrollment reaches 431.

1955

- Under the direction of Herb Keeton, the student work program becomes Campbellsville Industries.

1958

- House on the corner of College and Hoskins is repurchased and becomes the Music Building.

1953

- New Alumni Building opens. Women's residence hall, named for D.L. Druien, is completed.

1957

- Graduating class reaches 100. School celebrates Golden Jubilee.

1959

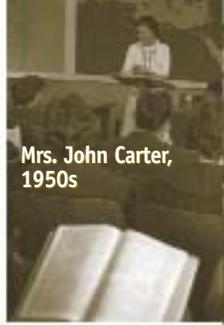

- The last class of the Junior College graduates.
- Campbellsville College 1959 - 1996

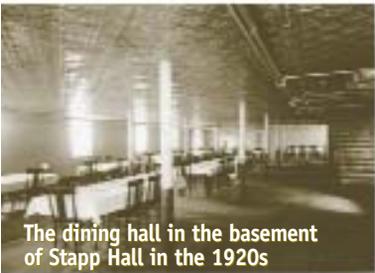

Coach Ron Finley, coach of reinstated football team

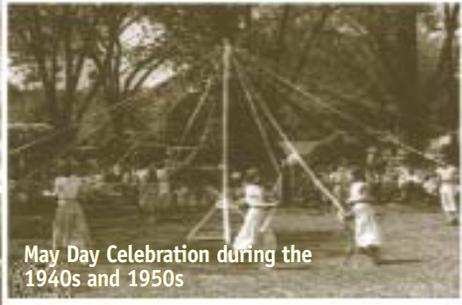

The reinstatement of the Tiger Football team 1987

Mrs. John Carter, 1950s

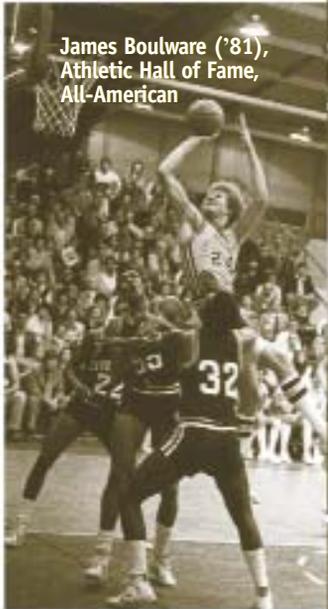

The dining hall in the basement of Stapp Hall in the 1920s

May Day Celebration during the 1940s and 1950s

Back row, L-R: Evie Perkins, Rebecca Ghant and Kathryn Duncan. Front row, L-R: Unknown, Lorena Grant, Minnie Lee Prewitt and Mabel Burdette

James Boulware ('81), Athletic Hall of Fame, All-American

Stapp Hall

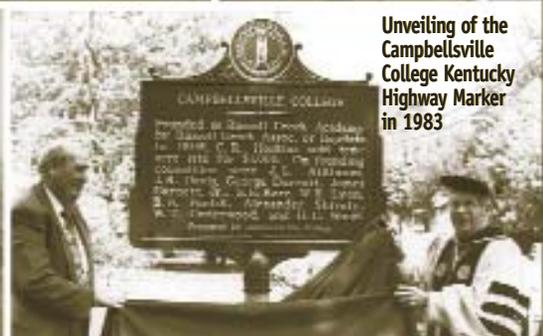

Powell Athletic Center 1969

Elizabeth "Mom" Jeffries

The Veterans Club

Unveiling of the Campbellsville College Kentucky Highway Marker in 1983

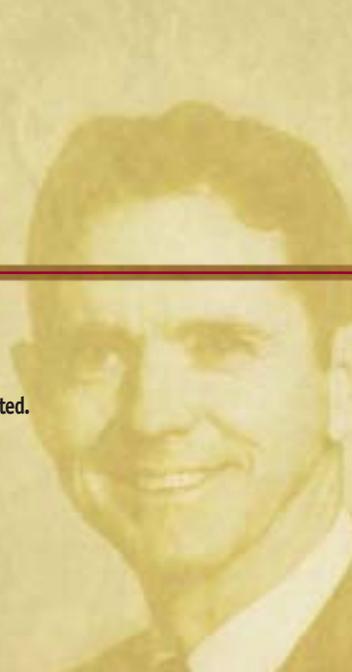

Chronology of Campbellsville University History

1960
• Twenty-nine students graduate from four-year college.

1963
• Science and Student Union buildings open. Kentucky Central Hotel is purchased for men's housing. The institution is accepted by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

1961
• School opens its doors to students of all races. The new Library opens.

1964
• Outdoor amphitheater is completed. College-owned Campbellsville Industries successfully markets church steeples.

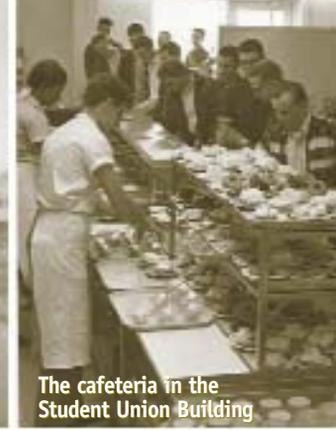

Remains of the administration building after the fire of 1939

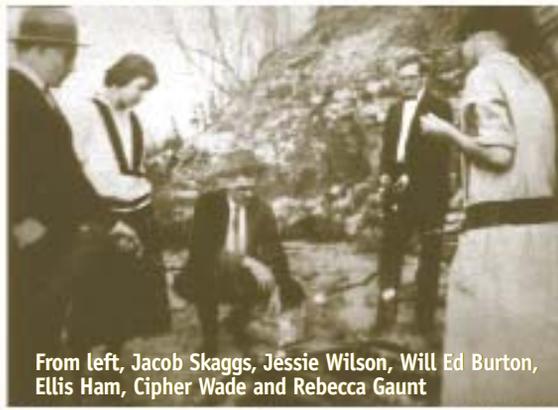

T.O. Purcell and his new car

The cafeteria in the Student Union Building

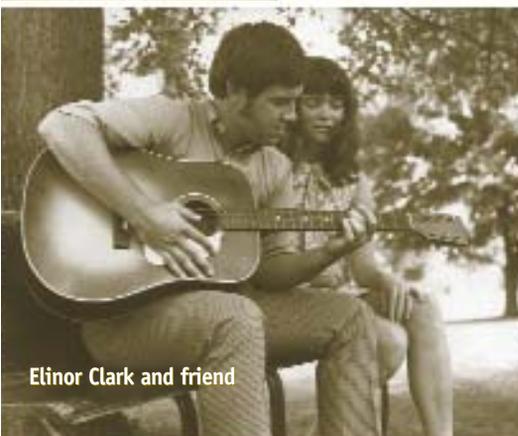

Miss Maple Trail 1965 Virginia Ponsler Flanagan

From left, Jacob Skaggs, Jessie Wilson, Will Ed Burton, Ellis Ham, Cipher Wade and Rebecca Gaunt

Administration Building in 1939, before the fire

Elinor Clark and friend

Administration Building 1970s

Football Team 1923

The School Seal

1965

- Land is acquired at Industrial Park for steeple operations. The facility is to be called "Goldfarb Industrial Center."

1967

- Old Stapp Hall is razed; new Stapp Hall opens.
- The Kentucky Central Hotel is sold.

1969

- W. Randolph Davenport succeeds Powell as president.
- J. K. Powell Athletic Center opens.

1966

- South Hall, men's residence hall, opens.

1968

- The woodworking student-work program becomes Quality Displays, Inc. and continues until 1982.
- J.K. Powell succeeds Carter as president.

1971

- Meditation Chapel is added to the campus.

Campbell, Card and McMillan to present concerts during Centennial

BY JOAN C. MCKINNEY, Editor

Kate Campbell

Michael Card

John Mark McMillan

Three artists, Kate Campbell, Michael Card and John Mark McMillan, will present concerts during the Centennial Celebration at Campbellsville University. Kate Campbell, a singer/songwriter from Nashville, Tenn., will present the first concert Oct. 26 at Campbellsville Baptist Church. This is a Robertson Worship Musical Event. For more than a decade, Kate Campbell has been one of the most clear-eyed, poetic and revelatory chroniclers of the Southern experience in popular music. Blessed with an angelic voice, unsinkable tunefulness, a master storyteller's eye for detail plus the even-handedness to examine life's blossoms and bruises, Campbell has assembled a body of work unsurpassed in consistency or soulful artistry. Michael Card, Dove Award winning artist and author, will lead a Worship Arts Conference focusing on the new worship arts academic program at Campbellsville University. He will speak at an event with the theme of "The Power of Lament: Passion and Praise in a Minor Key." Card will present a concert March 29, 2007. John Mark McMillan, a promising young Christian artist/worship leader, will present a concert March 30, 2007. Details on all three concerts will be announced later, and information will be posted on the Campbellsville University Web site at www.campbellsville.edu.

Information on each artist, taken from their Web sites, follows:

Kate Campbell

When entering into a Kate Campbell album for the first time, one should know that it's not simply a collection of recently written songs, but a deep, connected vision that has been forming in Kate's mind for a few years. In keeping with her recent focus on her musical roots with 2000's Wandering Strange and the country music of her childhood with 2003's Twang on a Wire, Blues and Lamentations finds Kate digging deeper into a musical style and emotion that has provided the understorey for her music from the beginning—the blues. "I love the concept of understorey," Kate says, "because I feel like the blues is really underneath it all, where I come from, being born in New Orleans, living in the Mississippi Delta, and then most of my life living here in what we call the Mid-South in Tennessee, it's this direct line. If you listen to my music you're going to hear New Orleans all the way to South Central Kentucky. And you get Northern Mississippi. You get Muscle Shoals and you get Memphis in there, so it's kind of like my musical heritage." Blues and Lamentations begins with a musical journey of sorts in "Miles of Blues," revealing that the emotional state of the blues is tied to no particular geographical location. Though the blues have mostly been associated with certain cities such as Chicago or New Orleans, Kate insists that the feeling itself is universal.

"The blues are a feeling," Kate explains. "You just can't get around it. Sometimes it's a very bad feeling, but overall, I think music itself is a way to release those." Using strictly acoustic instrumentation and one-take performances throughout, Blues and Lamentations has an organic, earthy feel which ties the lyrics ever more closely to the earth itself. A powerful force in Kate's writing, the land plays a role in nearly every song on Blues and Lamentations. "Free World" gives voice to a person's desire to freely live off the land while "Shallow Grave" tells the story of a woman vowing to haunt the former lover who left her to die an emotional death just below the surface. The latter tune may be one of the darkest songs Kate has ever sung, but she feels it captures an honest emotion that isn't often heard in modern music. "Shallow Grave" is a very dramatic way of talking about this," Kate admits, "but I think this is what people feel sometimes when they're cast aside." Another song on the album, "Wheels Within Wheels," showcases Kate's knack for telling the stories of highly interesting, offbeat characters. The song tells the true story of a Texas preacher named Burrell Cannon who nearly beat the Wright Brothers in developing the airplane. After a fan of Kate's told her about Cannon, her writer's eye immediately kicked in. In fact, Kate's unique vision for writing has earned her more comparisons to authors than to fellow musicians.

Entertainment Weekly referred to her as a "musical Eudora Welty" while NPR's Morning Edition included Kate among modern southern authors in their series "Artists of the New South." Kate's highly literate songwriting has also attracted some of the top musicians recording today to contribute to her albums, and Blues and Lamentations is no exception.

Guy Clark joins Kate on "Pans of Biscuits"—a traditional song Guy first played for her many years ago. Appropriately, Kate invited Maura O'Connell to lend her heavenly harmony vocals to Blues and Lamentations' closing track, "Peace Comes Stealing Slow." Partly inspired by a William Butler Yeats poem, the song ends the album on a prayerful note. In essence, this prayer captures the renewing effects of the blues -- ultimately connecting people together in their humanity.

Kate explains further, "With this record I hope people will listen to it a few times and enjoy it, and they can sing along with it, but the more they listen they're going to hear the undercurrents that are going on, then they're going to maybe start thinking of the lyrics differently. It's about tying us into humanity, and that's what music and art does anyway. It's all there." - Hunter Kelly June 2005

Web site: www.katecampbell.com

Chronology of Campbellsville University History

1976

- Paul G. Horner, beloved Bible-studies professor, retires.

1987

- Football program resumes after fifty years.

1989

- Music program is accredited by the National Association of Schools of Music.
- The College acquires a television station.

1984

- Montgomery Library renovations completed. School acquires Rosary Hospital, which later becomes Gosser Fine Arts Center.

1988

- Kenneth W. Winters succeeds Davenport as president.

Michael Card

"And the call is to community, the impoverished power that sets the soul free..." —Michael Card

In a career that spans 25 years, Michael Card has recorded over 20 albums, authored or co-authored over 14 books, hosted two radio programs, and written for a wide range of magazines. While he has penned such favorites as "El Shaddai," "Love Crucified Arose," and "Emmanuel," he never imagined selling more than four million albums or writing over 19 #1 hits. The popularity of his work seemed a stark contrast to his goal in life, to simply, and quietly teach the Bible.

Although music provided him the opportunity to share insights gained through extensive research, writing songs alone limited what he felt called to share. Card would frequently agonize over having to condense the vast depth and richness of scripture into a three-minute song. And so he fell, quite naturally, into the field of book writing where he has garnered numerous awards. As Card continued on his quest to teach the Bible, he was encouraged to follow his dream of hosting a radio program entitled "Joy in the Journey." Today it continues as, "In the Studio with Michael Card," and is broadcast on the Moody Radio Network. The structure of each show is based on Card's three passions: community, creativity and commentary. Card believes that it is out of community the gospel really comes to life. Never one to compartmentalize his spiritual life, Card's quest for community slowly seeped into his professional life as he began to write articles and books on topics that captured his imagination through conversations with Bible teachers, friends and contemporaries in both Christian music and the academic community.

Brennan Manning, Dr. Calvin Seerveld, Dr. Larry Crabb, Kirk Whalum, Dr. George Guthrie, Don Wyrzten, J.I. Packard and the late Dr. William Lane - from people known for their academic biblical contributions to Grammy-award winning musicians, Card is the first to note what an amazing community of friends and contemporaries he has had the opportunity to learn from and grow with both personally and professionally throughout his career.

Thomas Merton said, "The least of learning is done in the classroom," and he's so right," says Card. "The bulk of what I've learned whether academically, musically or personally is through interacting with other people, which is why I think community is so important to our growth as Christians."

In everything he does, Card seeks to encourage his audience to join him in his own journey to know and be known by God by asking questions and entering into meaningful discussion with one another. Card's vision is to edify the body of Christ around the world by sharing experiences and resources in the context of community in order to help facilitate the growth of smaller and more intimate communities within his audience's own churches and neighborhoods.

To that end, Card has branched out beyond the music which made his name known within the Christian community into the various mediums he uses today; another reason why Card sees the importance of continuing to teach at conference centers like Glen Eyrie, Columbia Bible College, Maranatha Bible College and even on a regular basis at his home church.

"It's odd to hear someone say that they would rather hear me teach than sing," says Card, "but thanks to events like the ones at Glen Eyrie, I don't have to pick one over the other; I get to do both - and it's a privilege that I am very thankful for." It is this combination of writing, music and speaking that creates the perfect environment for the community Card hopes to achieve and something he hopes to continue with the project he is currently working on, a book on biblical lament, which he plans to expound on through both a musical project as well as a series of speaking engagements. Articles appearing in Discipleship Journal, In Touch Magazine and The Banner throughout 2004 will culminate in the release of a book on the subject in 2005, which will be published by NavPress. Card's newly forged relationship with NavPress will also allow him to pursue a long time interest of his, fiction, an opportunity he is very excited about. "Fiction books like Victor Hugo's Les Miserables, Alexander Dumas' Count of Monte Cristo and even The Robe by Lloyd C. Douglas lead readers on an adventure that brings to life the themes of hope and redemption that are at the core of our Christian belief," says Card. "Both NavPress and I hope that biblical fiction will open doors to a whole new audience who will hopefully be inspired to search the Scriptures for the basis of the topics I plan to write about."

Whether it's through his writing, concerts, teaching or his radio program, the core of what binds these seemingly diverse endeavors together is biblical community. It is at the heart of everything Michael Card does.

"The one thing we strive to achieve is to reach people where they are," explains Card. "Someone who is impacted by music may not be affected by reading a book, someone who loves reading might not care about talk radio, but by providing all of these things, whether it's my work or the work of someone else, there's a greater chance of reaching more people, who in turn will reach out to others in their own community."

In light of a new year and a renewed focus on ministry, Card will continue doing what he loves to do; dig deep into the Word, ask questions and invite others to join him on his journey of knowing God and His Word.

Web site: www.michaelcard.com

John Mark McMillan

You get the sense, when listening to an album by John Mark McMillan, that there is another America out there. It's an America more real than the one you're used to: the one of endless car dealerships, sprawled out suburbia, and shoeshine religion. This is not that America. This is the America that exists, breathing and living, outside the realm of blue state and red state allegiance. This is the America built on the backs of the bruised and the broken, the America of under-produced country music, fuzzed out rock and roll and old time gospel. Though McMillan's most recent release, The Song Inside the Sounds of the Breaking Down, may open up with the deceptively Anglo-centric "London Town", the sound was most definitely born in the U.S.A. From the banjos and tube crunch of "Breaking Down" to the careening, slightly drunken "Next to You Now", McMillan and company have crafted an album that sonically stretches from sea to shining sea, subtly pulling from influences as disparate as Springsteen, Whiskeytown and Death Cab for Cutie.

Lyricaly, John Mark McMillan thinks like a poet. Lines like "I've been walking in my sleep/digging trenches in the pavement with the soles of my feet" and "I dreamed I kissed your feet/between the cigarette butts on the side of fourteenth street" wind their way through the tunes like Carolina copper-heads. The result is a thread that binds all of McMillan's music together: being broke down. Whether it's the death of a friend or the distance of a lover, the ghost that haunts John Mark's soul seems to brood on the back of his brokenness. And really, from the blues to Bob Dylan, what could be more American than that?

The Song Inside the Sounds of the Breaking Down is available now on iTunes, CD Baby, Tower Records, John Mark's website at www.thejohnmark.com, and other places quality recordings are sold. It was produced by Elijah Mosley and features James Duke on lead guitars, Al Sergel on drums, Andy Kurzweg on bass and Joel Simmons on keys.

Web site: www.thejohnmark.com

1990

- Student Union Building, Gosser Fine Arts Center, Montgomery Library, Administration Building, Druien Hall, Music Annex, Old Gymnasium and three residence halls are renovated.

1992

- Clock Carillon Tower is added to the campus. Master of education program is approved.

1996

- Campbellsville College becomes Campbellsville University. University acquires Clay Hill Memorial Forest.

1991

- Enrollment reaches 1,010.

1995

- Forty students participate in BSU Summer Missions. South Hall East, men's residence hall, opens.
- Construction of Hoskins Street becoming a two-lane boulevard begins.
- Campbellsville University 1996 - 2006

1997

- American Civil War Institute holds first symposium.
- Gosser Fine Arts Center adds The Gheens Recital Hall. President's home completed and named Betty Dobbins Heilman House. Carver School of Social Work is transferred to Campbellsville University and receives national accreditation. Air View Motel is purchased and renamed Broadway Hall. Brazilian enrollment increases because of Brazilian Baptist partnership.

Centennial Merchandise

Centennial Notecards and Envelopes

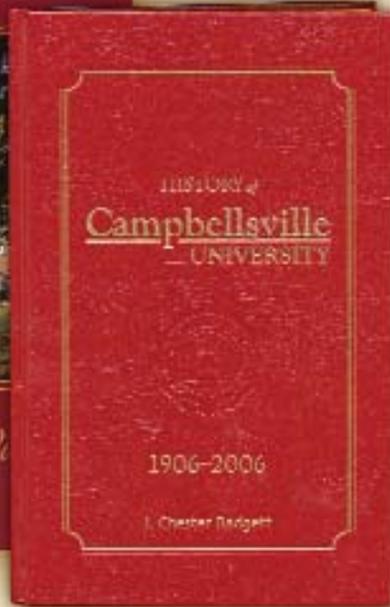

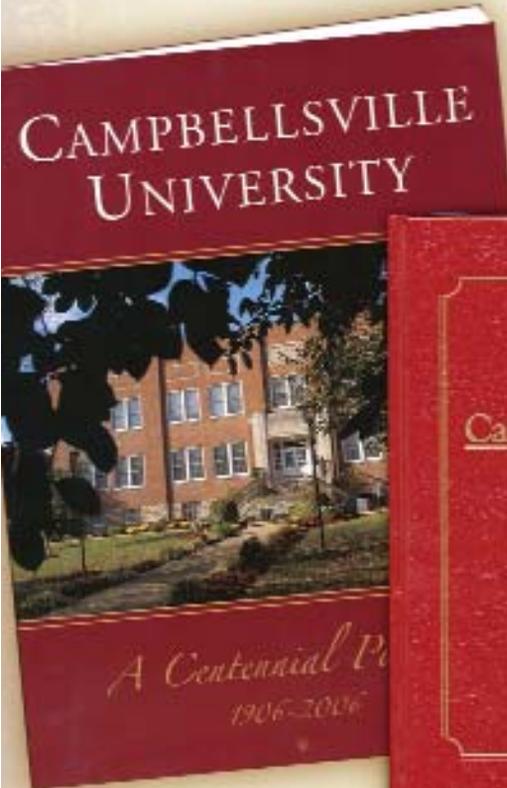

You can send wonderful notes to your CU classmates on these gray embossed notecards with white envelopes. Each notecard features the Centennial logo on the front. The size is 4" x 6" folded. $9.99 for set of 10 cards and envelopes.

Centennial Books

A Portrait of Campbellsville University 1906-2006

Beautiful color photos of modern-day Campbellsville University and old black and white photos from the early days of the institution are presented in an 8.5" x 11" book. This coffee table book makes a great gift for your CU alumni! The late Bill Strode of Harmony House Publishers contributed photographs to this book. Strode was a Pulitzer-Prize winning photographer. $29.95

The History of Campbellsville University

1906-2006 by Dr. J. Chester Badgett

This first printed history of Campbellsville University includes 418 pages with black and white pictures throughout. Historical pictures and text will delight the Russell Creek, Campbellsville Junior College, Campbellsville College and Campbellsville University alumni and friends! $19.95

Both books can be purchased together for $42.50

Centennial Painting

Artist Billie Sue Kibbons, a 1975 CU alumna, has completed a centennial painting that will be unveiled at the Aug. 30 Chapel/Convocation. Each print measures 20" X 24". Prints of the painting will be available after Sept. 1 by going online at www.campbellsville.edu/centennial or calling the Office of Development at (270) 789-5211. The prints will be priced at $25.00 (plus shipping/handling and sales tax)

Centennial Travel Tumbler

Traveling to work and need a tumbler to hold your drink? This 14 oz. steel insulated tumbler fits the bill. With a black plastic liner and a secure easy-sip opening, this tumbler will prevent your drink from spilling wherever you are. The Centennial logo is silk-screened on one side. $9.99

Chronology of Campbellsville University History

1998

- New academic structure is set up, Science Building addition completed and School of Theology established.

2000

- Technology Training Center opens. Student participation in missions increases. Kentucky Heartland Outreach program begins. Tiger Football Team plays in KWTO Bowl. Broadway Hall is renovated. American Civil War Band Festival is held. Life Long Learning Lab begins. Coach Donna Wise is named to NAIA Basketball Hall of Fame. Master of business administration (MBA).

1999

- Michael V. Carter succeeds Winters as president. Center for Bi-Vocational Ministry is established. First phase of Women's Residence Village is completed. Second phase of Carter Hall completed.

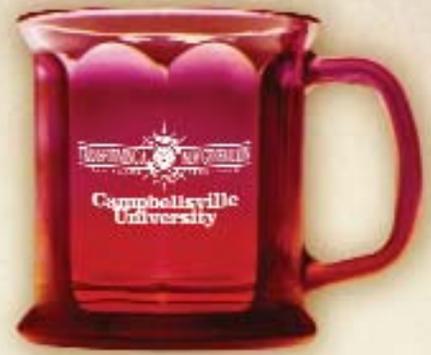

2001

- Partnership with Baptist Seminary in Recife, Brazil is established. Louisville Extension Center opens. Kentucky Heartland Institute for Public Policy is created. First Pastors and Church Leaders Conference is held. Strategic plan adopted.

Centennial Keychain

A square, two-dimension medallion key tag will assure your keys are protected. The key tag comes in its own gift box and features the Centennial logo. $12.50

Centennial Presidential Mug

This 13-ounce maroon glass mug is elegant and can be used for either display or to hold your favorite coffee. The CU Centennial logo is etched on one side. $12.99

Centennial Coffee Mug

Why not use your Centennial Coffee Mug at the Starbucks® on campus in the Davenport Student Commons?!? The 15 oz. maroon duo-tone mug is just the right way to drink your java. $10.00

Centennial Notepad

Distinctive 5.5" x 8.5" notepad featuring the Centennial logo. Pad of 100 sheets. $3.49

Centennial Ink Pen

What better way to keep in touch with your former classmates than a Centennial ink pen? This ballpoint pen has solid brass construction and a soft-touch rubberized grip, complete with a satin pearl finish. The Centennial logo is silk-screened on one side and has a jumbo ink cartridge. $4.99

Items will be available in the Barnes & Noble Bookstore on campus, online at www.campbellsville.edu/centennial and by contacting the Office of Development at (270) 789-5010. Prices do not include shipping/handling and sales tax.

2002

- CU receives Racial Harmony Award. Montgomery Library renovations begin. U.S. Department of Education provides grant for Alternative Certification Programs in Learning and Behavior Disorders. Alexander Hoffmann walnut tree farm is acquired. Joan White Howell Environmental Ed. Center built. Extensive renovations to J.K. Powell Athletic Center completed.

2005

- E. Bruce Heilman Student Center, with Winters Dining Hall and Davenport Student Commons opens. FIRST CLASS begun.

2006

- Land is cleared for Ransdell Chapel. Nursing Program begun.

2003

- Second American Civil War Band Festival is held. Algernon Sydney Sullivan Awards are awarded for first time. Tuggle-Morris Wellness Center and Hawkins Athletic Center opens. Master's degree in special education begun.

2004

- Coca-Cola® Indoor Practice Center opens. Library renovation is completed. Archives housing the A.B. Colvin, Carroll Hubbard, Sr., Clyde T. Francisco, U.S. Civil War, and Kentucky collections open. Basketball Coach Donna Wise is the first Kentucky woman to win 600 games. Centennial Capital Campaign begins. Phase II of Women's Residence Village opens. University graduates 335 students. Carver School of Social Work new building renovated. TV-4 moved to former Java Joe's building.

Centennial Trivia Compiled by ANNE K. GALITO, Assistant Editor

Q: How many different names has Campbellsville University had?

A: Four; Russell Creek Academy, Campbellsville Junior College, Campbellsville College and Campbellsville University

Q: What is the name of the CU mascot?

A: Claws

Q: Where is the “maple trail” located?

A: At the entrance to the administration building

Q: How many of CU’s presidents, current and past, are living?

A: Three; Dr. Kenneth W. Winters, Dr. W.R. Davenport and Dr. Michael V. Carter

Q: In what year did Campbellsville College become Campbellsville University?

A: 1996

Q: Where does the “senior walk” traditionally begin?

A: In front of Montgomery Library

Q: What organization is CU’s athletic program affiliated with?

A: NAIA, National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics

Q: What are the three words on the CU seal?

A: Fellowship, leadership, scholarship

Q: Who designed the CU seal?

A: Scotty Cocanougher Clenney in 1961

Q: In what year was the carillon clock tower erected on campus?

A: 1992

Q: What organization accredits Campbellsville University?

A: SACS, The Southern Association of Colleges and Schools

Q: What is the name of the organization that accredits the music department?

A: National Association of School of Music

Q: What is the newest “school” on campus and who is the Dean?

A: School of Nursing, Dean Jo Ann M. Wever

Q: Who wrote the CU Centennial history book?

A: Dr. J. Chester Badgett

Q: What is the goal of the Centennial Campaign?

A: $35 million with $15 million Phase II extension

Q: When was Russell Creek Academy established?

A: 1906

Q: What is the name of CU’s alma mater and who is the author?

A: “Campbellsville, We Love Thee” by Roger Lee Oldham

CU to partner with WKU establishing ROTC Program

BY JOAN C. MCKINNEY, Editor

Campbellsville University and Western Kentucky University have partnered to provide a Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) at CU.

LTC John Baker, professor of military science and leadership at WKU, and Dr. Michael V. Carter, president of Campbellsville University, formalized the partnership at a luncheon June 15.

ROTC prepares students for responsibilities as commissioned officers in the active Army, Army Reserve or Army National Guard following graduation.

The leadership and military skills training program will begin in the fall at CU, and students can earn an ROTC leadership studies minor. The program is administered through the School of Business and Economics.

Students will attend WKU one day each week, with CU providing transportation. The rest of the student's studies will be on the campus of Campbellsville University.

Students who begin the program as freshmen will take one ROTC leadership studies course per semester for four years. Students can also begin the program as juniors if they participate in a rigorous summer program the summer before their junior year.

Scholarships are available for this program. Students who enroll in the program must commit to military service after graduation as an officer on active or reserve duty.

"ROTC can change lives," said Carter. "Our relationship with WKU will be very beneficial for young men and women as they build character and leadership skills."

Baker said the program offers "so much potential" for students to develop as leaders, and, if they don't continue military duty, they will have gained a "firm footing" on which to base their lives. "It's a win-win situation," he said.

Students in the leadership studies minor program can take introductory ROTC courses as a freshman or sophomore, and full-time students may qualify for advanced courses when they reach junior status. They must be United States citizens and meet certain academic, physical and moral standards. Students may enter Army ROTC at any level as long as they have two years of full-time study remaining on campus.

Other undergraduates, transfers and graduate students may enter the Army ROTC two-year program by participating in a four-week summer "Leader's Training Course" to qualify for "advanced" ROTC (students earn pay plus credits for the camp and may be awarded scholarships).

Two-, three-, and four-year scholarships are available. Scholarships pay full tuition, books and fees, plus $300 to $500 per school month (tax free) for living expenses. All "advanced" students receive the tax-free monthly allowance ($450-$500) plus pay for their summer training.

Western has only one other institution, Kentucky Wesleyan College, with whom they have the ROTC partnership.

For details about the ROTC program, contact Dr. Pat Cowherd, dean of the School of Business and Economics, at phcowherd@campbellsville.edu or at (270) 789-5281. 🐦

The Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) partnership between Campbellsville University and Western Kentucky University was signed June 15. Present for the meeting were from left: Dr. Frank Cheatham, vice president for academics at CU; MAJ A.J. Goglia, assistant professor of military science and ROTC enrollment officer at WKU; LTC John Baker, professor of military science and leadership at WKU; Dr. Michael V. Carter, president of CU; and Everett Colvin, instructor of business at CU. (CU Photo by Joan C. McKinney)

"The program offers so much potential for students to develop as leaders."

LTC JOHN BAKER
PROFESSOR OF MILITARY
SCIENCE AND LEADERSHIP

CU athletics complete successful competition year

BY BRYAN F. BLAIR, Sports Information Editor

This season, 102 different athletes were recognized in 16 sports with All Mid-South Conference, All Region XI and Academic All-Conference Awards. The Tiger athletic program compiled a 180-116-2 record on the year among eleven sports. Lauren Wathen (SO/Flaherty, Ky.) was honored with an All-Conference Award in softball and an Academic All-Conference Award in women's basketball.

Mid-South Conference (MSC) players of the year were: Amy Eckenfels (JR/Louisville, Ky.), Volleyball Libero of the Year and NAIA Region XI Player of the Year; Zach Ingles (SR/Gowen, Mich.), Tri-Player of the Year in Men's Basketball; Amanda Nuyt (SR/Russellville, Ky.), Player of the Year in softball; Kelly Vooris (JR/Hopkinsville, Ky.), Pitcher of the Year in softball; Scott Webb (FR/Irvine, Ky.), NAIA Region XI Men's Golfer of the Year; and Lauren Scholl (FR/Somerset, Ky.), Women's Golfer of the Year.

Amy Eckenfels was named the NAIA Volleyball Libero of the Year and Donnie Johnson (SR/Winchester, Ky.) was named as an NAIA First Team Baseball All-American. In Wrestling, Chris Seta (JR/Cincinnati, Ohio), David Clemens (FR/Cincinnati, Ohio) and Glen Jackson (FR/Chesapeake, Va.) were named as All-Americans. Zach Ingles was named as a second team All-American in Men's Basketball.

The Tigers produced MSC Tournament Championships in men's basketball, men's golf, softball and baseball while the softball team also won the regular season MSC title. CU volleyball, women's cross country, cheerleading and men's tennis finished second in either regular season or tournament standings while the Tiger wrestling team, in only its second year, produced three All-Americans and finished 14th nationally. Women's cross country and women's golf both sent one athlete to compete in the NAIA Nationals as well.

CU's coaches also excelled with five Coach of the Year awards. Women's cross country coach Paul Bodenhamer, women's soccer coach Abbie Parish, men's basketball coach Keith Adkins, men's golf coach P.J. Throckmorton and softball coach Shannon Wathen were all named the MSC Coach of the Year and CU's sports information director, Bryan Blair was named the MSC Sports Information Director of the year.

"It's been a great year for our program," said CU director of athletics Rusty Hollingsworth. "Nearly a third of our athletes were recognized at some level within the conference and region. Plus, to have several of the Mid-South Conference Coaches of the Year on our staff shows the quality and commitment we have to athletics," he added. 🐯

Mark Rowe selected as new cross country, track coach

BY BRYAN F. BLAIR, Sports Information Editor

Campbellsville University has named Mark Rowe as its new cross country and track coach. Rowe, who will graduate in December with a master's degree from CU, has been an assistant coach for both programs over the past year and also ran for both teams while at Campbellsville. He graduated from CU in 2005.

Originally from Owensboro, Ky., Rowe was a five-time All-State Cross Country athlete in Class AAA at Daviess County High School. During his high school career, Rowe was also a member of the All-State Super Team in 1999 and was a member of the 1998 Daviess County State Champion team, which to this day is still considered by many to be the best high school team in Kentucky history.

Coach Mark Rowe

Rowe was also a member of three state runner-up teams and one third-place team. He was the state runner-up in the 1,600-meter in track in 2000 and a member of the Daviess County state championship track teams in 1997 and 1998.

During his collegiate career, Rowe ran as a member of the University of Kentucky cross country team that qualified for the NCAA Championships in 2003 and placed 5th in the Atlantic Sun Conference 5,000-meter event and is the Samford freshman school record holder in the 8k cross country.

At Campbellsville, Rowe placed 4th in the Mid-South Conference Cross Country Championships in 2004.

Rowe comes from a long line of track and cross country runners. His father is Tony Rowe, the cross country and track coach at Daviess County, while one younger brother runs cross country and track at Austin Peay State University in Clarksville, Tenn. 🐯

"To have several of the Mid-South Conference Coaches of the Year on our staff shows the quality and commitment we have to athletics."

RUSTY HOLLINGSWORTH
CU DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

Bryan Cross promoted to Tiger football defensive coordinator

BY BRYAN F. BLAIR, Sports Information Editor

Campbellsville University Tiger football coach Jim Deaton has announced the promotion of one coach and the resignation of another as his program prepares for the upcoming 2006 season.

Bryan Cross

“Defensive coordinator Scott Mooney has resigned, and we’ve promoted defensive back/special teams coach Bryan Cross to the position,” said Deaton.

Mooney, in a letter that was sent to football players recently, said “I made a decision to prioritize my responsibilities as a father and as a husband and that decision means that I will be moving to Hardin County (Ky.) to be with my wife, Kelly, and our four year-old daughter, Heather Ann.” He is exploring teaching and coaching opportunities in the Hardin County School System.

Cross, who was hired earlier this year as defensive backs and special teams coach, is a 1993 alumnus of Campbellsville having played for the Tigers from 1990 to 1992. He was a member of Campbellsville’s first Mid-South Conference Championship team of 1992. During his playing career, teams that Cross were a part of finished a combined 24-7 and were ranked in the Top 20 all three years.

“To say the least I’m excited to be given this opportunity,” said Cross. “When coach Deaton asked me if I’d be interested in the job, it wasn’t a tough decision. We have great young men here, and I’m looking forward to the challenge of helping them find more success on and off the field,” he said.

During his playing career, Cross was named to the All-District 32 team two times, All Mid-South Conference team twice, All-Region second team in 1991 and first team in 1992 and was a Don Hansen Football Gazette All-American in 1992.

His coaching resume includes a two-year stint as defensive line coach and recruiting coordinator at Midwestern State University in Wichita Falls, Texas. From 1999 to 2003, he was the linebackers and special teams coach at Western Kentucky University and helped the Hilltoppers win the 2002 NCAA 1-AA National Title.

From 1997 to 1999, Cross was the offensive coordinator and strength/conditioning coordinator at Centre College in Danville, Ky. He also has served on the coaching staff at Murray State University and was the wide receivers coach at Campbellsville in 1995. ➤

Football Schedule - Fall 2006

Sept. 2	Ohio Dominican	HOME	1:30 p.m.
Sept. 16	Webber Int’l	Away	1:30 p.m.
Sept. 23	Pikeville	Away	1:30 p.m.
Sept. 30	Shorter	HOME	1:30 p.m.
Oct. 7*	Cumberlands	HOME	2:00 p.m.
Oct. 14	Georgetown	Away	1:30 p.m.
Oct. 21	Cumberland, TN	Away	2:30 p.m.
Oct. 28	Belhaven	HOME	1:30 p.m.
Nov. 4	Lambuth	HOME	1:30 p.m.
Nov. 11	Bethel	Away	2:30 p.m.
* HOMECOMING

“We have great young men here, and I’m looking forward to the challenge of helping them find more success on and off the field.”

BRYAN CROSS
DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR
CU FOOTBALL

Scholl finishes 23rd at NAIA golf championship

BY BRYAN F. BLAIR, Sports Information Editor

Campbellsville University’s Lauren Scholl, a freshman from Somerset, Ky., placed 23rd at the NAIA Women’s Golf National Championships at Blackthorn Golf Club in South Bend, Ind.

Lauren Scholl

Scholl shot a four round total of 321 and finished 33 over par. She recorded her lowest round score in third round play with a 78.

The individual medalist was Ashley Soler of Oklahoma City University with a four round total of 296, 8 under par.

Oklahoma City won the overall tournament title while Mid-South Conference Champions Lindsey Wilson finished 11th. ➤

CU sports information director named Mid-South SID of year

BY JOAN C. MCKINNEY, Editor

Bryan Blair, Campbellsville University's sports information director, has been named the recipient of the Bill Sergent Award as Mid-South Conference Sports Information Director of the Year.

Bryan Blair

Blair has been the SID at Campbellsville since the fall of 2003 and is also the play-by-play voice of CU men's and women's basketball radio broadcasts.

The SID award is named for longtime University of the Cumberland's sports information director Bill Sergent.

"It's a real honor to be recognized by the other SIDs in the Mid-South Conference in receiving the Bill Sergent Award as the SID of the Year," said Blair.

"After being the SID at Campbellsville for the past three seasons and working with other SIDs throughout the nation, the Mid-South Conference has some of the very best sports information directors of any league. For them to collectively honor me is something very special to me," he said.

Blair, in addition to his duties at CU, serves as the SID for the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) Region XI, which is comprised of schools from the Mid-South Conference and TranSouth Conference.

Blair was director of broadcast services at Campbellsville University from 1993 to 1997. He came back to work at TV-4 in 1999 and became sports information director in 2003.

He is married to Connie Rogers Blair, and together they have five children, Tyler, Lance, Chase, Cassidy and Caylie. Blair resides in Lebanon, Ky. 🐦

"It's a real honor to be recognized by the other SIDs in the Mid-South Conference."

BRYAN BLAIR
CU SPORTS INFORMATION
DIRECTOR

Lady Tiger basketball adds 6'6" post player from Montenegro

BY BRYAN F. BLAIR, Sports Information Editor

The Campbellsville University Lady Tiger Basketball team has added a 6'6" post player to the roster.

Danijela Utvic, a senior transfer from Bethel College in Tennessee, has signed to play her senior season at Campbellsville in 2006-07.

"DJ gives us a second player in the post that makes us very big," said Lady Tiger Coach Donna Wise. "It's rare to find a college team on any level with a player that is 6'5" like we already have with Julija Illic, a senior from Montenegro, but to have two players of that size is really unusual," she said.

Like Illic, Utvic is from Montenegro. She started her college career at Penn Valley Community College in Kansas City, Mo. where she averaged 12 points, 8 rebounds and 3 blocks a game as a freshman. She broke Penn Valley's record of blocks in a season with 64 that year.

Utvic joins a solid recruiting class that Wise hopes will help lead the Lady Tigers back to the top of the Mid-South Conference standings after a rebuilding year in 2005-06. 🐦

Donna Wise, left, Lady Tiger basketball coach, has signed Danijela Utvic, a senior transfer from Bethel College, who is a 6'6" post player. (CU Photo by Bryan Blair)

"DJ gives us a second player in the post that makes us very big."

DONNA WISE
LADY TIGER
BASKETBALL COACH

Late CU rally propels Tigers to win second consecutive Mid-South Conference Baseball Tournament

BY BRYAN F. BLAIR, Sports Information Editor

If an MVP was given in the Mid-South Conference Tournament Championship game, it would surely go to Temple MacDonald of Campbellsville University.

MacDonald provided some late game fireworks at the plate and helped a Campbellsville offense, that had struggled against some tough University of Cumberlands pitching, pull out a dramatic win.

Trailing 7-4 in the top of the 8th inning, Campbellsville, playing as the visitors on the scoreboard, MacDonald, a sophomore from Charlottetown, PEI, Canada, smacked a three-run homer to center field that tied the game at 7-7.

The Campbellsville defense would hold the Patriots scoreless in the bottom of the 8th inning to set up the climactic finish to the game. Campbellsville's Jason Nuefeld, a junior from LaSalle, MB, Canada, opened the inning with a lead off walk. That was followed by the Tigers Matt Lepage, a sophomore from Ste. Anne, MB, Canada, with a sacrifice bunt that moved Nuefeld to second base. Campbellsville's Andrew Carroll, a junior from Louisville, Ky., then singled on Cumberlands John Sullivan's bobble and Nuefeld held at second. Campbellsville's Tyler Tucker, a junior from Campbellsville, then walked to load the bases, which set the stage for MacDonald's heroic finish.

MacDonald, who had just hit the three run shot in the 8th inning, stepped to the plate and took a ball on his first pitch. But the second pitch, straight down the middle, was drilled over the right field wall for a grand slam home run that gave Campbellsville an 11-7 lead.

The Tiger defense held with Donnie Johnson on the mound in the bottom of the 9th, and Campbellsville turned a double play to end the game.

Campbellsville advanced to the NAIA Region XI Tournament in Lebanon, Tenn. where they ended the season with back-to-back losses. The Tigers finished the season with a 38-14 record.

The Tigers' Donnie Johnson was named as an NAIA First Team All-American following his performance as a relief pitcher this season. Johnson is a senior from Winchester, Ky.

Campbellsville had six players named to the All Mid-South Conference team and two players named to the NAIA All Region XI team this season. ➔

Coach Beauford Sanders gets doused after winning the Mid-South game. (CU Photo by Bryan Blair)

Members of the Tiger Baseball Team take the field after winning the Mid-South Conference Tournament. (CU Photo by Bryan Blair)

Golfer admits mistake, receives accolades for character

BY BRYAN F. BLAIR, Sports Information Editor

Imagine the moral dilemma you would find yourself in as a member of a golf team that has just recorded its biggest victory in a decade when you suddenly realize you've committed a rules violation, but no one else knows about it.

It's not an imagined scenario for Campbellsville University freshman golfer Scott Webb from Irvine, Ky.

On April 13, Campbellsville was hosting its invitational golf tournament at the Old Silo Country Club in Mt. Sterling, Ky. The Tigers were among six teams competing for the tournament title, along with arch rival Lindsey Wilson College who had been ranked nationally for the entire season.

Webb shot a one over par 73 and was tied for third, and CU had tied Lindsey Wilson with a team score of 298. It was determined that all five players from each team would proceed to a play-off round. Ultimately, the Tigers won the play-off by one stroke and were awarded the first place trophy.

That's a huge story in itself for an up and coming program, but the bigger story was yet to be told.

Late in the round of the tournament, Webb discovered he'd carried an extra club in his bag. "I usually always put an extra wedge in my bag until I get to the course and get a feel for how it looks," said Webb. "Normally I take it out, but this time I just forgot," he said.

Webb said after he discovered the extra club, which he did not hit during the round, he wasn't sure what to do. "After I'd found the club and we'd been declared the winner of the tournament, I really weighed things out in my mind," he said. "I thought about it the entire way back to Campbellsville and once we arrived home I had decided I'd tell coach P.J. Throckmorton and let him decide what was the best thing to do."

Throckmorton had no doubts what the correct call was once he was informed of Webb's mistake. "In order to preserve the integrity of the game, I knew we had to forfeit the match," he said.

Scott Webb

Webb said the announcement was tough to take. "When I first realized that my score was not going to count and that we lost the tournament, I was torn all to pieces," he said. "But, I have to give a lot of credit to my teammates because they've been very understanding and none of them have looked down on me for it or anything like that."

Throckmorton, although disappointed in the loss for his team, was very impressed with Webb's admission. "I think Scott's actions show what kind of young man he really is. It would have been very easy for him to have not said a thing but he chose to take the high road and he exemplifies what the NAIA Champions of Character is all about," he said.

Mid-South Conference commissioner Mike Pollio echoed Throckmorton's thoughts as he presented a special Champions of Character award to Webb during the Mid-South Conference Tournament less than two weeks later.

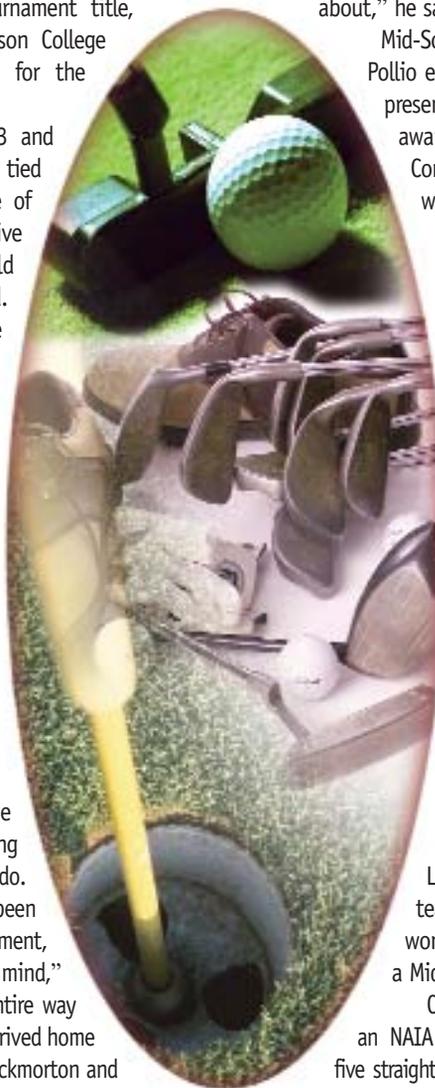

"I hope that he inspires all of our athletes in the league to follow his example because that is what we expect of each of them," Pollio said.

CU athletic director Rusty Hollingsworth said, "The culture of sports today teaches a 'win at all costs' mentality, but the action of this one golfer teaches the greater lessons of integrity and sportsmanship."

However, no story like this is complete without a great ending and even a bit of irony.

While competing in the Mid-South Conference Tournament, the Tiger team again found themselves in a very familiar situation. After the MSC Tournament round, they were again tied with Lindsey Wilson College and faced a full team play-off. Once again, the Tigers won the play-off and in doing so captured a Mid-South Conference Tournament Title.

Campbellsville University has been named a NAIA Champions of Character institution for five straight years. Launched by the NAIA in 2000, the Champions of Character program addresses character issues more comprehensively than any other national program for youth. 🍀

"I hope that he inspires all of our athletes in the league to follow his example because that is what we expect of each of them."

MIKE POLLIO
MID-SOUTH CONFERENCE
COMMISSIONER

Remember When?

BY JOAN C. MCKINNEY, Editor

It's a sports theme from years past in this issue of the Campbellsvillian.

We're showing sports pictures from earlier days of Campbellsville University's history as we begin the celebration of our 100th birthday.

Among the events scheduled during the year will be a reception, titled "100 Years of Sports" Saturday, Oct. 7 at 5 p.m. in the Winters Dining Hall during CU's Centennial Homecoming. Hope you can attend!

If you know any of the people in these pictures, we would be glad to hear from you. 🍷

Are these former football players?

This group of baseball players represented Russell Creek Academy.

A women's basketball team poses in front of the Old Gym.

These students, most likely cheerleaders, are wearing letter sweaters supporting Campbellsville.

Guess Who?

This picture is of two students who were voted Most Athletic. If you can guess who the students are, you'll win a CU Centennial T-shirt. 🍷

COMPILED AND WRITTEN BY JOAN C. MCKINNEY, EDITOR

EDITOR'S NOTE: YEARS OF GRADUATION OR ATTENDANCE AT CAMPBELLVILLE UNIVERSITY ARE DETERMINED BY THE LAST YEAR OF ATTENDANCE. FOR EXAMPLE, ('65) IS A 1965 GRADUATE; (A '65) IS SOMEONE WHO ATTENDED HIS OR HER LAST YEAR IN 1965; AND ('65, M '69) IS SOMEONE WHO GRADUATED WITH A BACHELOR'S OR ASSOCIATE'S DEGREE IN 1965 AND A MASTER'S DEGREE IN 1969.

'60s

DR. THOMAS BADGETT ('62) has been named acting commissioner of Kentucky's Department for Medicaid Services, the Cabinet for Health and Family Services. He joined the cabinet in September 2004 as the chief medical officer for the Department for Medicaid Services. Before that he served in several advisory roles to Kentucky Medicaid. He is married to Rachel Badgett. He is the son of DR. J. CHESTER BADGETT, a member of the Campbellsville University Board of Trustees, and his wife, Ruth. Address: 2922 Rainbow Drive, Louisville, Ky. 40206-2938.

ANNE MARDIS ('59), center, retired recently after 47 years of service at Campbellsville Baptist Church. With her are the pastors with whom she worked during her tenure. From left are: the Rev. Skip Alexander, pastor from 2002 to the present; Dr. James Jones, pastor from 1981 to 2001; and the Rev. J. Chester Badgett, pastor from 1950 to 1980. The late Dr. Paul G. Horner was interim pastor in 1980-81. Ms. Mardis lives at 105 Rose St., Campbellsville, Ky. 42718. (Photo by ANNA MARY BYRDWELL, a 1960 CU graduate)

A GROUP OF CLASSMATES FROM THE CLASS OF 1968 hold a reunion every year, and they would invite others to join them. From left are: Donald Madison, O.T. Tapscott, Joe Dolan, Von Hilliard and Eugene Morris. If interested in attending, write Hilliard at P.O. Box 246, Independence, Ky. 41051 or call (859) 428-0449.

Old friends gathered to help DR. ROBERT S. CLARK, center, in chair, celebrate having been named Man of the Year for 2006 by the Central Kentucky News-Journal, the Campbellsville newspaper. Clark was a history professor and academic dean 41 years before his retirement in 1998. Helping celebrate were these people who have taught, graduated from or been associated with Campbellsville University from left: Front row - Leoma White, Frances Roberts, Mary Ellen Coker, Clark, Harlie White and Lillian Clark, wife of Clark. Back row - Noble Roberts, husband of Frances Roberts; Dr. Robert L. Doty, who nominated Clark and who himself has been a Man of the Year; B.R. Himes, who has also been a Man of the Year; Dr. Jerry Kibbons and his wife, Billie Sue Kibbons. (CU Photo by Joan C. McKinney)

'70s

SANDRA DARNELL MORAN ('70) has retired from the Cabinet for Health and Family Services after 34 years of state employment. She retired as service region administrator associate for the 10-county Lake Cumberland region. She is married to Larry Moran, and he will be retiring from Fish and Wildlife this year. They have one daughter, Erin Beth, who lives in Louisville. Address: P.O. Box 152, Greensburg, Ky. 42743. E-mail: sandimoran@alltel.net.

LARRY A. TOLLER ('77) is an associate executive director of the Illinois Baptist State Association in Springfield, Ill. and is on the board of trustees for Mid Continent University in Mayfield, Ky. His book, My Story Your Story His Story, a devotional journeying book, will be released Aug. 22, 2006. He is on a book/speaking/conference tour through July 14 in Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico and Colorado. He speaks regularly in churches. Prior to coming to Illinois in 2000, he was a policy advisor on staff with Arkansas Gov. Mike Huckabee. He has also served in business administration positions at the Arkansas Baptist Children's Home in Monticello, Ark. and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas. He and wife, Kenett, have two children and a daughter-in-law: Rebekah and Michael and Paula-Beth. He and his brother, Wes Toller, are co-founders of SecondWind Resources. Address: E-mail: lat1227@insightbb.com. Web page: www.memoryjournaling.com.

STAN PATTERSON ('79) is senior pastor at First Baptist Church in Jackson, Ga. Prior to pasturing at Jackson, he was the founding and senior pastor for 12 years at Lakeside Baptist Church in Greensboro, Ga. He and his wife, Nancy, have a married daughter, Megan Boirè. Address: 848 Park Place Drive, Jackson, Ga. 30233. E-mail: pastorstan@jacksonfbc.com.

'80s

TONY RODGERS ('84) and his wife, RONDA HARRINGTON RODGERS (a '82), will be celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary in December. Rodgers is pastor at Pellville Baptist Church in southern Hancock County in the Blackford Association where he began service in November 2005. He has a master of divinity degree in Christian education from The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky. Mrs. Rodgers serves as department manager for the Heart Center at Owensboro Mercy Health System. She holds her bachelor's of nursing degree from Western Kentucky University (convenience only). She is involved in the ministries of the church including choir, drama, Children's Bible Drill, TeamKid and more. Their son, DAVID RODGERS (a '06), will be a junior this fall at CU pursuing a church music degree with an emphasis in voice. Their daughter, Amy, will be entering Owensboro Community College this fall as a freshman. Address: P.O. Box 23, 12160 State Route 2181, Pellville, Ky. 42364. E-mail: Tony_Rodgers@msn.com.

VANGIE BARNES ALTMAN ('89) has been recognized as the Campbellsville-Taylor County Chamber of Commerce "Educator of the Year." She has taught at Campbellsville Middle School for the past 17 years. Campbellsville Middle School Principal CHRIS KIDWELL ('93) said Altman has a "compassionate and competitive spirit as a teacher that is unique and unparalleled in the profession." Reading and language arts are her specialties. She has also taught journalism for the past seven years. She is married to Ray Altman; they have two sons, JAKE ALTMAN ('06), and Zach Altman, a student at Campbellsville High School. Address: 801 Forest Hills Drive, Campbellsville, Ky. 42718.

Vangie Altman

'90s

SGT. 1st CLASS TIM MORGAN ('91, M '03), a former professor at Campbellsville University, has been mobilized to Iraq with a unit out of New York, the 411 EN BDE HHC. He will be their senior chaplain assistant and will be assigned in Baghdad for one year. He will train in Wisconsin two months and then leave for Iraq in August. He has been in the United States Marine Corps, Kentucky National Guard and now the Army. He has been a chaplain assistant for the past five years. Morgan taught in the health and human performance area at CU and has degrees from Eastern Kentucky University in 1992, 1993 and 1997. He and his wife, Shirley, have two sons, Joshua and Andrew. Address: 142 Edgewood Drive, Stanford, Ky. 40484.

Sgt. 1st Class
Tim Morgan

CARRIE CREECH GADDIS ('98, M '05) is the new ministry assistant for music and communications at Campbellsville Baptist Church. She worked at CU seven years in the Office of Business Services with her position as student account coordinator. Her husband, MITCH GADDIS ('96, M '03), is a senior accountant at Taylor Regional Hospital where he has been employed nine years. Address: 905 Christerson Lane, Campbellsville, Ky. 42718. E-mail: megaddis@alltel.net.

RoDONNA CARSON COX (a '99) is activities assistant at Crestview Rehabilitation and Nursing and is also a Mary Kay Consultant. She is married to T.J. Cox and has two children, Madalyn and Elijah. She would like to hear from her friends. Address: 1275 Main St., Pleasureville, Ky. 40057. E-mail: madeli_28@yahoo.com.

DR. JOSH PHELPS ('99) is a resident in diagnostic radiology at the University of Kentucky. His wife, Susan, and he have a daughter, Preston Reece Phelps. Address: 920 Stonecast Court, Lexington, Ky. 40509.

'00s

CHARLES BROOKS BATES ('01) is an attorney with the Hoover Law Office in Jamestown, Ky. Address: P.O. Box 3, Jamestown, Ky. 42629. E-mail: attorneybates@hotmail.com.

RICHARD BLAKE ('02) is senior sales executive with Kaplan Financial, a leading provider of education, training and certification for securities, insurance, and financial services professionals and corporations. Address: 4343 N. Clarendon Ave., Apt. 703, Chicago, Ill. 60613-1595. E-mail: richard.blake@kaplan.com.

JENNIFER VILLELLA ('02) has earned her doctor of veterinary medicine degree from Auburn University's College of Veterinary Medicine. Address: 2031 S. College St., #40, Auburn, Ala. 36832. E-mail: midnight006@aol.com.

DANIELE LOPES ('03) is a communications consultant in Indianapolis, Ind. for Emergency Radio Services, a major Motorola dealer for the State of Indiana. She graduated in December 2005 from Ball State University with a master's degree in information and communication services. Address: 5111 Red Horizon Blvd, Indianapolis, Ind. 46221. E-mail: danilopes52@hotmail.com.

CHRIS SANDERS ('03, M a '06) has accepted a position at Campbellsville University as international education coordinator in the Office of International Education. He was previously an admissions counselor since February 2003. Address: 105 Todd St., Apt. C-3, Campbellsville, Ky. 42718. E-mail: cmsanders@campbellsville.edu.

Chris Sanders

continued on page 30

continued from page 29

JOSHUA HAYES ('05) has been employed at Western Kentucky University as the equal opportunity coordinator/data analyst since May 2005. His job duties consist of training departments in diverse recruitment and hiring. He also reviews all resumes and/or applications for vacant positions on campus and processes statistics monthly for the president pertaining to the general hiring population. As part of professional development, he travels to various conferences to learn more about equal employment opportunity, affirmative action and diversity. He is also pursuing a master's degree in a new program titled administrative dynamics which focuses on business, psychology, communication and leadership. He plans to graduate in May 2007. Address: 1120 Cabell Drive, Bowling Green, Ky. 42104. E-mail: joshua.hayes@wku.edu.

LORI ROUSEY ('05) is an algebra teacher in the math department at Garrard County High School. Address: 102 McKinney Court, Stanford, Ky. 40484. E-mail: lori.rousey@garrard.kyschools.us.

JENNY NETHERLAND MILLER ('03) left, and CRYSTAL ANDERSON ('02) were honored with a combined baby shower at the Central Kentucky News-Journal in Campbellsville where they both work. Miller is a receptionist, and Anderson is circulation manager. Miller is married to JAMES CLAUDE MILLER IV ('03), who is employed at Taylor County Bank; Anderson is married to JOSH ANDERSON ('99, M '03), dean of student services at Campbellsville University. This is the first child for each couple.

Marriages

CHRIS PICKETT ('99) married Anna Clements Pickett July 9, 2005 at St. Rose Catholic Church in Springfield, Ky. They honeymooned in the Caribbean. Pickett teaches at Bardstown High School and coaches junior varsity basketball. Mrs. Pickett teaches at Fredrickstown Elementary School in Washington County. Address: 109 East Beal St., Bardstown, Ky. 40004. E-mail: cpickett@btown.k12.ky.us.

Anna Clements and Chris Pickett

TIMOTHY J. BURRIS ('02), a youth worker with Lincoln Village Youth Development Center, and TINA LUNS福德 BURRIS ('04), a substitute teacher with the Hardin County School System, were married June 4, 2005 at First Christian Church in Elizabethtown, Ky. Address: 658 Westport Road, Elizabethtown, Ky. 42701. E-mail: T.J.: sportsman962002@yahoo.com. Tina: tmb2427@yahoo.com.

DONNIE MATT EMERSON ('02), assistant band director at Adair County High School, and Karen Bonner Emerson, secretary at First Baptist Church in Russell Springs, Ky., were married Jan. 3, 2006 in Jamestown, Tenn. Address: P.O. Box 1792, Russell Springs, Ky. 42642-1792. E-mail: Matt trumpetking72@hotmail.com. Karen karenue35@yahoo.com.

Karen and Matt Emerson

CHRIS MORAN (a '02), secretary for the Division of Natural Science and Division of Social Science at Campbellsville University, married Steven "Tommy" Cundiff March 26, 2006 at Northside Baptist Church in Elizabethtown, Ky. She has three children, Rachel, Courtney and Jordan Moran; he has two children, a daughter, Alexis, and son, Jacob. Address: 780 Collins Lane, Campbellsville, Ky. 42718. E-mail: crmoran@campbellsville.edu.

Chris Moran and Tommy Cundiff

SARAH KATHRYN PICKETT ('02, M '04) and Reginald Kent Roy were married March 19, 2006 at Greensburg Cumberland Presbyterian Church. The couple took a honeymoon to the Caribbean. Mrs. Roy is employed by Green County Middle School as a teacher and coach. Roy is employed by Bennett's Carpets Inc. of Russell Springs as a labor supervisor. Address: 5713 Highway 910, Russell Springs, Ky. 42742-8905.

Sarah Kathryn Pickett and Reginald Kent Roy

LAUREN CRAIN (a '06) and Johnny Gordon were married July 9, 2005 at Elkhorn Baptist Church. She is employed at Cash Advance and is a junior in the business program at Campbellsville University. Gordon works at Kentucky Cooperage.

Lauren Crain and Johnny Gordon

LARRY BRUCE WARF ('03) minister of sports outreach at First Baptist Jackson in Jackson, Miss., and Meredith Ann Gore, CPA, were married April 30, 2005 at First Baptist Church in Grenada, Miss. The couple honeymooned in Maui, Hawaii. Address: 222 Williams Circle, Flowood, Miss. 39232. E-mail: Bruce: bwarf@fbcj.org. Meredith: meredithgore@yahoo.com.

Bruce and Meredith Ann Gore Warf

JENNIFER O'NAN ('04) married Anthony Lee of Frankfort, Ky. July 17, 2004. Address: 1025 Dana Drive, Lawrenceburg, Ky. 40342.

JASON NEUFELD (a '06), a senior at Campbellsville University and member of the Tiger baseball team, and ASHLEY KINMAN NEUFELD ('06) were married Dec. 31, 2005 in Versailles, Ky. Mrs. Neufeld works at Family Eye Care in Campbellsville. Address: 100 Todd Street, Apt. 3, Campbellsville, Ky. 42718. E-mail: jasonandashleyneufeld@yahoo.com.

Ashley Kinman and Jason Neufeld

Births

MICHAEL TORRES (a '98) and his wife, Sandra, announce the birth of a child, Tomas Anthony Torres, April 30, 2006. Address: 5401 Colusa Way, Sacramento, Calif. 95841-2303.

TINA McFELIA BLAKEMAN ('01) and Brian Wayne Blakeman announce the birth of their first child, a daughter, Aug. 6, 2005 at Spring View Hospital in Lebanon, Ky. She was named Abigail Faith Blakeman and weighed 8 pounds, 15 1/2 ounces and was 21 inches long. Mrs. Blakeman is the daughter of GEAN WRIGHT, administrative assistant for the Office of Admissions at Campbellsville University, and her husband, Danny. Mrs. Blakeman is a staff accountant at Jane Todd Crawford Hospital, and Blakeman works in records at Marion Adjustment Center. Address: 108 Arlington Circle, Greensburg, Ky. 42743. E-mail: tinablakeman@yahoo.com.

Abigail Faith Blakeman

JULIE BOEHM BUREL ('02) and her husband, Kory, announce the birth of a son, Jackson Scott Burel. He was born Feb. 7, 2006 and weighed 7 pounds, 8 ounces. He was 22 inches long and was born in Atlanta, Ga. Mrs. Burel is an early intervention teacher at Dallas Elementary School, and her husband is a pastor. Address: 255 Harris Oaks, Dallas, Ga. 30157. E-mail: jaburel@hotmail.com.

Jackson Burel

HEATHER TAPP FUQUA ('03) and her husband, J.J. FUQUA ('05), announce the birth of a daughter, Taylor Lynn Fuqua. She was born May 15, 2006, and weighed 7 pounds, 9 ounces and was 18 1/2 inches long. Mrs. Fuqua handles all employee benefits with Baptist

Taylor Fuqua

Hospital East in Louisville, and her husband is an internal auditor with American Commercial Lines. Address: 2207 Beargrass Ave., Louisville, Ky. 40218. E-mail: hltapp12@yahoo.com.

MAURO CAVASSANA ('00, M '02), and his wife, LUCY ROCHA CAVASSANA ('03, a '06), announce the birth of their first child, a daughter, May 15, 2006 at Hardin Memorial Hospital in Elizabethtown, Ky. The child was named Malu Marinato Cavassana and weighed 7 pounds, 11 1/2 ounces and was 19 1/2 inches long.

Malu Cavassana

SARAH DAUGHERTY WARD ('02) and her husband, ANDREW WARD, director of student activities and intramurals, announce the birth of their first child, a daughter, June 2, 2006 at Taylor Regional Hospital in Campbellsville. Beau Sumner Ward was 8 pounds, 4 ounces and 20 inches long. They have both taught at Kentucky Christian School. Address: 113 Cheyenne Drive, Campbellsville, Ky. 42718. E-mail: Andrew: ahward@campbellsville.edu.

Beau Sumner Ward

SONDRA BURRESS ('03, M a '06), secretary for the special education program at Campbellsville University, and her husband, J.R. Burress, announce the birth of identical twins, Jillyan Brooke, who was born May 10, 2006 at 9 a.m. and weighed 5 pounds, 1 ounce and was 17 1/2 inches long, and Lillyan Paige, who was born at 9:01 a.m. and weighed 4 pounds, 1 ounces and was 17 1/2 inches long. They were born at Norton's Suburban Hospital in Louisville. Mrs. Burress is working toward her master of special education degree. Address: 3800 Speck Ridge Road, Elkhorn, Ky. 42733.

Jilly and Lilly Burress

JODY GRAHAM (a '06) and his wife, BRANDI OWENS GRAHAM ('04), announce the birth of their first child, a daughter. She was 5 pounds, 10 ounces and was 19 inches long. She was named Dayne Ella Graham and was born at Spring View Hospital in Lebanon, Ky. Graham is the son of BOBBY GRAHAM, who is a custodian at Campbellsville University, and his wife, Connie. Address: 985 Woodhill Drive, Campbellsville, Ky. 42718. 🐾

Dayne Ella Graham

CORRECTION: MALCOLM WAYNE KESSLER ('66), who died Feb. 10, 2004, is not the father of DR. RICHARD KESSLER ('89), as printed in the May 2006 Campbellsvillian. We regret the error. Kessler is survived by his wife, Connie, and two sons and their families: Dr. Bruce Kessler of Bowling Green, Ky. and Bryan Kessler of Greensburg, Ky.

Dr. Don Zuberer

Zuberer, former member of CU Board of Trustees, dies

Dr. Donald Lee Zuberer, a former member of the Campbellsville University Board of Trustees, died May 9, 2006 at Vanderbilt University Medical Center in Nashville, Tenn. He was 73.

Zuberer served CU as a trustee four terms: 1983-1986, 1987-1990, 1994-1998 and 1999-2002.

"We are saddened by the loss of one of our former trustees," said Dr. Michael V. Carter, president of Campbellsville University. "He served CU well, and our sympathy is with his family. We will miss him."

Carter said Zuberer served as a member of the presidential search committee that recruited him to become the 13th president of Campbellsville University.

"I was impressed with his commitment to the institution and his understanding of the importance of Baptist higher education in the 21st century," Carter said. "He served the church in many capacities."

The Rev. John Chowning, vice president for church and external relations and executive assistant to the president who also serves as pastor of Saloma Baptist Church, said, "I worked with Dr. Don Zuberer during my own two terms as a trustee. He was a faithful member of the board as we moved to university status in 1996. During my early years in the administration, Don was strategically involved in our efforts to expand our church relations and outreach work."

Chowning said he had a "tremendous understanding of the role of the local church and how the church and Baptist higher education should work together."

Zuberer was minister to senior adults at First Baptist Church in Clarksville, Tenn. and served over 50 years as a pastor for numerous churches in Kentucky.

He was a retired flight instructor and professional pilot, professional trumpet player and a Kentucky Colonel.

He was a graduate of Georgetown College, The Southern Baptist Seminary in Louisville and received his doctorate from Lexington Theological Seminary.

Survivors include his wife, Carol LaDuke Zuberer, Clarksville; son, Paul Zuberer, Cleveland, Ohio; daughters, Kathy Hunter, Florence, Ky.; Lynn Bogart, Overland Park, Kan.; brother, Ray Zuberer, Shepherdsville, Ky.; grandchildren, Matthew Karschner, Rebekah Karschner, Chris Bogart, Amy Bogart, Erick Zuberer, Carrie Zuberer, Madeline Zuberer; and great-grandchildren, Antonia Karschner and Lillian Karschner.

Entombment was in Evergreen Cemetery Mausoleum in Louisville, Ky.

Memorial contributions may be made to First Baptist Church, Find Us Faithful Still, Building Fund, 435 Madison St., Clarksville, Tenn. 37040. McReynolds-Nave & Larson Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Zuberer can be reached at 1834 Madison St., Apt. G 56, Clarksville, Tenn. 37043-2945. 🍀

Beth Kemper, English professor, is killed in car collision

Dr. Loretta Beth Kemper, associate professor of English at Campbellsville University, was killed in a two-car collision in Clinton County, Ky. She was 38.

Kemper, who taught at CU since 1995, was also director of the university's Writing-Engagement-Learning (WEL) Program, an initiative that facilitates students' academic success.

"Beth Kemper was a professor who loved teaching," said Dr. Michael V. Carter, Campbellsville University president. "Beth was a lover of writing and wanted every student to succeed. She will be missed greatly by the Campbellsville University family."

Dr. Frank Cheatham, vice president for academics, said Kemper was "a friendly individual with a contagious smile. Her interest and involvement in the WEL program caused others to want to participate. Many faculty are participating in the WEL program because of her leadership and hard work to make this program successful."

She established CU's first writing center and served as its director from 1999 until 2003. She also was the honors program director in 2003 and 2004 and co-coordinator of the TEMP grant in conjunction with the CU School of Education.

Kemper received her doctorate in English with an emphasis in the 20th century British novel from the University of Kentucky in 2003. She graduated with a 4.0 grade point average.

She earned her bachelor of arts in English and writing from Western Kentucky University in 1989 and completed a master of arts in English from WKU in 1991 with a 4.0 GPA. She was a graduate assistant at both WKU and the University of Kentucky.

She was the recipient of the Appalachian College Association Fellowship, the Sowder Award for Best Graduate Essay at the University of Kentucky and the Wanda Gatlin Essay Award from Western Kentucky University.

Kemper served as an editor of several publications, including McGraw-Hill's "College Writing: A Concise Handbook for Writers" and "Reading, Writing and the Study of Literature."

She also published several articles and spoke at several conferences. Her poem "Salvage" was published in the 2004 winter issue of "Appalachian Heritage."

She belonged to the Kentucky Philological Association, the National Conference of Teachers of English and the Conference on Christianity and Literature.

Kemper, who lived in Campbellsville, is survived by her mother and father, William and Susie Vance Kemper of Russellville; and one brother, William Kemper Jr. of Russellville. 🍀

Dr. Beth Kemper

Music professor given Tenured Faculty Award

BY ANNE K. GALITO, Assistant Editor

“My hope for my students, whether they are music majors or non-music majors, is that they find a job they truly love,” said Nevalyn Moore, assistant professor of music and university organist. “I cannot imagine having another job I love as much as I love teaching at Campbellsville University. It is a unique place. I feel so privileged to be allowed to have a career in this type of environment.”

Moore received the Tenured Faculty Award during the 2006 Honors and Awards Day chapel/convocation ceremony. She received a check for $3,000, a Distinguished Faculty stole to be worn with her academic regalia and a bouquet of flowers.

This award is given annually by the Advancement Council and is the highest honor given to a faculty member.

During her tenure at CU, Moore has directed the CU Handbell Choir in over 20 states, 60 Kentucky cities, 96 Kentucky churches, 22 high schools, eight regional arts series, six state music conventions, a Southern region music convention and a national conference. She has served as assistant professor of music, university organist, staff accompanist, a member of the music library committee, university library committee and strategic planning committee at CU. She has also served on the music library staff at Florida State University in Tallahassee, Fla., as organist and music assistant at First Baptist Church in Tallahassee and was owner and master teacher of Moore Music Studio in Dyersburg, Tenn.

Moore received a bachelor of arts degree in music/organ performance from Judson College in Marion, Ala. and a master of music degree in organ performance from the University of Mississippi in Oxford, Miss. She is a member of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers, American Guild of Organists, Music Educators National Conference, Kentucky Music Educators Association, Kentucky Baptist Women’s Conference and Pi Kappa Lambda.

Moore was named the Kentucky Music Educator 4th District College/University Teacher of the Year twice, member of Who’s Who Among American Teachers, Who’s Who of America, Who’s Who of American Women Millennium Edition and received the Campbellsville University Faculty Award for non-tenured faculty.

She is married to Dr. Jim Moore, professor of music at CU, and they reside in Campbellsville. They have two daughters, Jenny Meadows and her husband, Chris, and Bonnie McCarty and her husband, Seth, and son, Sammy, and daughter, Bradie; three sons, Brian Moore and his wife, Charlie, and son, Elliot; Chris Moore and his wife, Schonna; and Matthew Moore. ➤

Nevalyn Moore, assistant professor of music and university organist, received the Tenured Faculty Award during Honors and Awards Day chapel/convocation. From left, Dr. Michael V. Carter, president; Nevalyn Moore; Dr. Jim Moore, professor of music and Mrs. Moore’s husband; and Dr. Frank D Cheatham, vice president for academic affairs. (CU Photo by Tiago Pinheiro)

“It is a unique place. I feel so privileged to be allowed to have a career in this type of environment.”

NEVALYN MOORE
ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF MUSIC AND UNIVERSITY ORGANIST

continued from page 6

tech-prep program and director of the school-to-work program. Cowherd coordinated the dislocated workers program in Albany and helped those workers secure jobs in the community.

Pavy has been director of campus ministries at CU 12 years. He has served as minister of education and youth at First Baptist Church in Williamsburg, Ky., and at Edgewood Baptist Church in Nicholasville, Ky. He belongs to the Association of Southern Baptist Campus Ministers and the Kentucky Recreators.

Campbellsville University is most appreciative to the Barney II and Moore Foundations, particularly William Reichardt, president of the Barney II Foundation, and Martin Moore, president of the Moore Foundation, for their initiative to help those in Christian higher education take students to the highest form of leadership – servanthood in Christ’s name. ➤

Early Childhood Education programs now offered

BY ANNE K. GALITO, Assistant Editor

The Campbellsville University School of Education will be offering associate and bachelor degrees in early childhood education beginning in fall 2006.

“Through this program, students will gain the knowledge and skills necessary to work effectively with young children,” said Dr. Brenda Priddy, dean of the School of Education.

The students in this program will be put in “real world” settings and participate in 120 hours of field experience connecting and applying what they learn. A degree in this area will open opportunities for graduates to have positions in Head Start, Early Head Start, Even Start, for-profit and non-profit childcare facilities, and preschool training (where licensure is not required). They may also be home visitors, parent educators, assessment coordinators, administers of early care and education, licensing agents, child life specialists, professional development trainers, quality coordinators, technical assistants, infant-toddler specialists, family literacy consultants or program coordinators.

In the associate degree program, students will be required to complete 67 hours of coursework, and bachelor degree students will be required to complete 128 hours.

Students will take classes such as educational foundations of early childhood; health safety and first aid; nutrition for young children; introduction to special education and P-5 children’s literature.

Currently, this program does not offer licensure in teaching. For more information on this program, contact the School of Education at (270) 789-5252 or education@campbellsville.edu. ➤

continued from page 12

P-12, Amelia Brooke Douglas; L.M. Hamilton Scholarship Award, Autumn Faith Perkins; Ruby Curry English Award, Nathan Neil Gower; Cinema/Television, Jeffery L. Hoots; Journalism, Bethany Ann Parrott; Public Relations, Mary Ann Gilliland; Biblical Studies, Jonathan Paul Arvin; Christian Social Ministries, Kristen Frazier Garrett; Pastoral Ministries, Stephen Matthew Coleman; Philosophy, Timothy James Eubanks; Sports Ministry, Jennifer Michele Bruckert; Educational Ministries, Amy Catherine Blackwood; Dr. William E. Bennett Political Science Award, Earl Dean Rodgers; History, Ashley Kinman Neufeld; Psychology, Brittany Dawn O'Banion; Social Studies, Kasey Mae King; Sociology, Brittany Dawn O'Banion; Criminal Justice, Steven Wayne Shields; International Education, Kwaku Osebreh; Study Abroad Excellence Award, Amy Catherine Blackwood and Alison O'Bryan; Carver School of Social Work Award, Kristi Kay Lewis and Misty Renee Curry; Exercise Science/Sports Medicine, Joshua Lee Morton; Physical Education (Teaching), Clayton Douglas Crutcher; and Physical Education (Non-Teaching), Matthew Joseph Antle. The June Winslow Carter Scholarship was awarded to Janice Lynn Hill.

Students named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges for 2005-2006 are: Philip M. Amaismeier, Brittany Colleen Benningfield, Amy Catherine Blackwood, Christopher Douglas Bland, Jessica Faye Bozarth, Jeremiah Allen Burdon, Patrick Robert Campbell, Kelli Brooke Cecil, Stephen Matthew Coleman, Julie Ann Davenport, Alice Ann Davis, David Wesley Edwards, Dana Lynn Etherington, Cody Keon Eubanks, John Benjamin Feather (posthumously), Kristen Frazier Garrett, Mary Elizabeth Goff, Amy Lorene Golightly, Uzias Gonzalez, Nathan Neil Gower, Brandon Lee Gupton, Allison Leigh Hahn, Jacquelyn Marie Hardy, Stephen Tyler Hatchell, John Michael Honeycutt, Timothy Adam Hopper, Jessica Leilani Kamaunu, Shin-Hye Grace Kim, Lukas Randolph Lawless, Korey Blake Mitchell, Matthew Thomas Moore, Lindey Kate Nelson, Ashley Kinman Neufeld, Sarah Beth Newton, Stephanie Rose-Marie Paglialunga, Emily Brook Pavy, Melody Denise Pope, Stephanie Nicole Ramsey, Christen Marie Roszkowski, Erin Rachel Sapp, Christopher John Seta, Gloria Sherilyn Shearer, Lucas A. Shouse, Jimmie Kay Tiefel Singerman, John Stewart Strickland, Kelly Darlene Vooris, Brittany Nicole Wells, Tara Danielle Whittington and Philip David Wolfe.

2006 Alpha Chi inductees are: Dawn A. Clarke, Anna Lindsey Penn, Jordan T. Reinle, Kristen M. Riggs, Chad M. Robinson, Eric D. Thompson, Tyler G. Vessels, Richard Kyle Wheeling and Elizabeth May Woolsey.

Students named Champions of Character are: Ashlee Maranda Wilkinson, women’s basketball; Jeremy Alan Taylor, men’s basketball; Shad Jordan, baseball; Stephanie Margaret Russell, cheerleading; Lauren Maree Bales, women’s cross country; Timothy James Eubanks, men’s cross country; Corri Jermaine Irving, football; Jillian Nichole Carter, women’s golf; Brad Alan Berryhill, men’s golf; Cara Whitney Montgomery, women’s soccer; Brain Michael Munafo, men’s soccer; Amanda Nichole Martin, softball; Lindey Kate Nelson, women’s tennis; Edwin Kyle Caven, men’s tennis; Miranda Kay Meeks, women’s track; Jonathan Dale Buchanan, men’s track; Rachel Christine Heath, volleyball; and Kaci Jarelle Payne, wrestling. Champions of Character is an initiative of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, and CU has been recognized as a Champions of Character institution for five years in a row. ➤

ScrapBook

BY ANNE K. GALITO, Assistant Editor

Campbellsville University's Office of Alumni Relations holds reunions in several cities during the academic year.

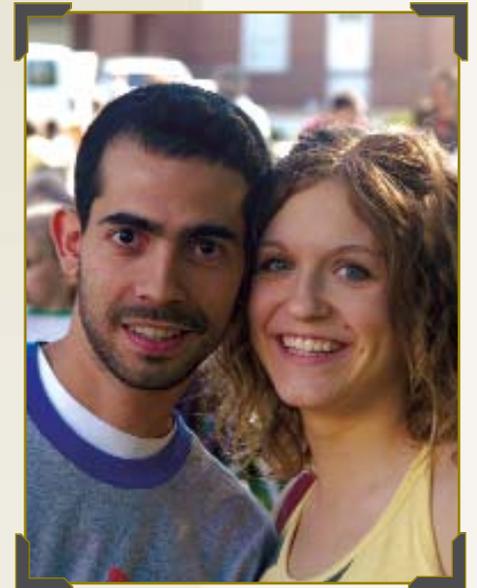

Here are some pictures from a reunion in Russell Springs, Ky. and one in Danville, Ky. plus pictures from the senior picnic.

If you'd like to host a reunion in your city, just give the Office of Alumni Relations a call at (270) 789-5211 and speak with Benji Kelly, director of alumni relations. We'd love to hear from you!

Sarah Heath, a student at Russell County High School in Russell Springs, Ky., attends the Russell Springs alumni event. (CU Photo by Anne K. Galito)

Attending an alumni meeting in Danville were from left: Front row -- Jean Case ('57), Nina Mallory ('56) and Malinda Smith ('57). Back row -- Linda Knight, Ralph Knight ('55) and Evelyn Crooke ('42). (Photo submitted by Karen Vaughn)

Jezimar "Nuno" Oliveira Norberto ('04, M'06), left, and Sarah Vinson Norberto ('06) pose during the Senior Picnic on Montgomery Library Lawn. (CU Photo by Diogo Pimentel)

From left, Vanessa Cross Sadler ('06), Joshua Sadler (a '03), Chris Sanders ('03, M a'06), international education coordinator, and Yvonne Cross eat during the Senior Picnic on Montgomery Library Lawn. (CU Photo by Diogo Pimentel)

Campbellsville University's Centennial Celebration was kicked off July 4 in downtown Campbellsville with CU's three living presidents serving as grand marshals of the parade. They rode in a horse-drawn buggy driven by Gene "Tex" Flanagan of Russell County. Dr. Michael V. Carter, president of CU, rode in the front with Dr. Kenneth W. Winters, left, president from 1988 to 1999, and Dr. W.R. Davenport, president from 1969 to 1988, in the back. (CU Photo by Joan C. McKinney)

Campbellsvilian

Office of University Communications
1 University Drive, UPO 784
Campbellsville, KY 42718-2799

Change service requested

Non-Profit Organization
U.S. POSTAGE PAID
Permit # 12
Lebanon
Junction, KY