Faith in Focus - December 2025

Spotlight: The Centered Podcast

On September 1, The Centered Podcast released its very first episode. The podcast is led by Faith Partner Coordinator Aden Murray, who first developed the idea in Dr. Shane Garrison's Media Ministry class. After exchanging a few emails and holding several planning meetings, Aden and the CFM team brought the concept to life.

The Centered Podcast features a wide variety of guests—pastors, professors, coaches, and students—each sharing meaningful stories and experiences from their personal and spiritual journeys. Aden says one of his favorite episodes to film was with Men's Volleyball Coach Alfonso Alvarez. During the recording, Dr. Hernandez entered the room to ask whether the team could help with an upcoming mission trip. "Before she even finished, Coach Alvarez said yes," Aden shared. "It was incredible to see how mission-focused his heart is."

At its core, The Centered Podcast is rooted in the mission of the Great Commission. We strive to share what God is doing on our campus and beyond. The hope is that the podcast reaches not only those already connected to campus ministry, but also individuals watching at home who may not yet believe in Jesus—sparking curiosity and inviting them into a deeper exploration of faith.

Events

Christmas in the Cabin

On December 9, we welcomed students and friends to our annual Christmas at the Cabin celebration. The evening was filled with festive snacks, cheerful karaoke, and plenty of holiday spirit. Guests also enjoyed taking photos with Santa and Buddy the Elf, making it a memorable kickoff to the Christmas season.
