Job Description
Seeking a physicist to teach a range of lower-level courses for both science and non-science majors and some upper-level courses for a physics minor. Applicants with an earned doctorate or ABD and teaching experience are preferred; however, those with a master's degree or other experience are encouraged to apply. Primary responsibilities will be teaching, with some time for research and student mentoring, and limited academic advising and committee work. This is a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level beginning August 2019, but possibly January 2019. Interested applicants should either email a letter of interest, a curriculum vita, a statement of teaching philosophy, and three letters of recommendation to Dr. Steve Alston, Natural Science Division Chair, at salston@campbellsville.edu, or mail copies to Dr. Steve Alston, Natural Science Division Chair, Campbellsville University, 1 University Drive, Campbellsville, KY 42718. In addition, a formal employment application and background screen agreement, found at https://www.campbellsville.edu/about/community/employment/employment-application/, must be completed. Campbellsville University, a comprehensive Christian institution offering undergraduate (associate and baccalaureate) and graduate (master's level) programs, stresses academic excellence solidly grounded in the liberal arts, personal growth, integrity, and fellowship within a caring environment. Campbellsville University is centrally located in the heart of Kentucky and has been listed in US News and World Report as one of "America's Best Colleges" for 18 consecutive years. The University seeks to prepare students to enrich their own lives through lifelong learning, to contribute to their respective disciplines through continued scholarship, and to advance society as Christian servant leaders. An employee of Campbellsville University is expected to participate in the life of a local church in keeping with the spirit of the institutional mission statement and core values. The individual employee is expected to conduct him, or herself, both on campus and off, in a manner becoming an employee of a Christian institution, and the employee should uphold the highest standards of conduct in terms of honesty, truthfulness, respectful attitude, and conduct toward others. Each individual associated with Campbellsville University is to perform his or her daily responsibilities mindful of the intent of the institutional mission statement and core values.
