Job Summary:

Campbellsville University is seeking a tenure-track assistant professor in mass communication with expertise in journalism.

Position begins August 2023.

Rank will be determined by academic credentials and experience.

Job Responsibilities:

Successful candidate will be responsible for teaching undergraduate journalism courses.

This person will also be required to teach introductory mass communication courses related to general education requirements for students.

Other duties include undergraduate advising and assistance with student publications, broadcasts and/or student-produced social media.

Skills/Qualifications:

Earned doctorate or terminal degree in journalism or mass communication preferred.

Will consider master's degree in mass communication with two years of experience in journalism.

Essential Duties:

- Working hours necessary to perform job requirements satisfactorily on a regular basis.
- Managing absences from work in a responsible manner to ensure service to university faculty, staff and students.
- Complying with Campbellsville University policies and practices and seeking clarification of them when necessary.
- Honor the mission of Campbellsville University and abide by rules and regulations and Standards of Conduct outlined in the Administrative Policies and Procedures Manual.

Campbellsville University is a comprehensive, Christian institution that offers pre-professional, undergraduate and graduate programs. The university is dedicated to academic excellence solidly grounded in the liberal arts that fosters personal growth, integrity and professional preparation within a caring environment. The university prepares students as Christian servant leaders for life-long learning, continued scholarship, and active participation in a diverse, global society.

The individual employee is expected to conduct him, or herself, both on campus and off, in a manner becoming an employee of a Christian institution, and the employee should uphold the highest standards of conduct in terms of honesty, truthfulness, respectful attitude, and conduct toward others. Each individual associated with Campbellsville University is to perform his or her daily responsibilities mindful of the intent of the institutional mission statement and core values.

Employees must be able to perform the essential functions of the position with or without reasonable accommodations.
